Community War Chest Hits $127,000

WORKERS OPEN CLEAN-UP WITH $13,000 NEEDED

New Reports Today Add To $121,009 Announced at Central Park Rally.

4 DIVISIONS OVER TOP

Industrial Workers Turn In $83,000 Pledges, Sure of Reaching Quota.

With the Community War Chest hopper holding $127,419 at noon today, Major General Fred B. Hout was exhorting his Commandos to intensified efforts during the three days remaining in the campaign to oversubscribe the quota of $140,377, of which slightly more than 85 per cent or $121,009 was reported at last night's Central park report rally. A total of $12,958 remains to be raised.

Majors of four Commando divisions reported going over the top, the construction battalion capturing 75 per cent more than their quota objective of $2,600, with a report which today totaled $4,345, according to Major O. C. McCormick.

Representing the largest division of all, Major H. W. Arlin of the industrial brigade announced his Commandos near their goal with $83,000 subscribed. Their quota of $84,500 will be met or exceeded before Saturday's final reporting hour, Arlin confidently declared.

Henry Talmadge reported the auto division, with a quota of $1,300, was over the top with $1,430. Charles Nail, heading the finance division, announced a subscription of $5,744, well over the quota of $5,200, while Major H. H. Schettler of the professional division turned in a total of $4,198, as compared to a quota of $3,900.

Last night's reported total of $121,009 was boosted today by a report from Shelby that $6,200 already has been subscribed toward the $12,000 goal approved by the Shelby War Chest committee.

Other reports last night, according to quotas and amounts already subscribed, follow:

Food division $5,200 — $3,199; public employes $3900—$950; public service $6,300—$5,582; retail $5,200 — $5,000; women's division $8,450—$6,849; educational $3,250—$1,020.

Other than the Shelby report, no returns have been received from

Scenes of Armistice Observance, War Chest Report Session

As Mansfield observed Armistice day yesterday the accompanying scenes appeared. In upper left a wreath is being placed at the foot of the Doughboy monument in Central park during ceremonies conducted by the Blue Star Mothers and the Legion Mothers club. Below, at left, H. W. Arlin, major of the industrial division in the Community War Chest drive, is reporting results of division's work at park ceremonies last night, and at the right Maj.-Gen. Fred B. Hout is commending forces for their accomplishments. The thermometer shows the War Chest heat rising to more than $120,000 at last night's report session.

SENATE GROUP URGES LONGER WORKING WEEK

Committee Lashes Plan For Compulsory Manpower Control in Report.

HITS FEDERAL ACTION

Criticizes WMC and Asks For Overtime Pay In U. S. War Bonds.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate defense investigating committee, strongly advising against compulsory manpower controls, today recommended lengthening of the work week to 48 hours, with any additional overtime to be paid in government bonds.

In a report sharply critical of the administration's failure to evolve a comprehensive solution, the committee urged that the problem of channeling sufficient workers into war industries be approached by government direction of employers' hiring policies "rather than in coercive measures applied to the individual employe."

"Suspending the 40-hour week in non-war industries, with the proviso that employers be permitted to pay overtime to the extent paid in 1942, should be studied as a possible answer to severe labor shortages in our civilian industries," the report said.

Declaring the war manpower commission had failed in its seven months existence to formulate a national program, the committee said it was impossible to determine until questions of policy had been settled whether any legislation was needed.

"The public knows there is a manpower problem because it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain any kind of help and because industries are slowing down for lack of labor," the report said, adding:

"There have been scores and hundreds of public utterances from Washington telling about the manpower problem, criticizing the public for failure to cooperate in a non-existent program to solve it, and threatening a draft of labor or a draft of women or this or that form of compulsion.

"In the absence of any over-all policy and program for mobilization of manpower, the subcommittee on manpower has decided that it would be a mistake for congress to even consider passage of any

SUB TOLL CUT

U-Boats Get Only 11 in North Atlantic, Report Shows.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Enemy submarines, which destroyed 111 Allied and neutral merchantmen in the western Atlantic during June, the highest monthly total, sank only 11 in October, their lowest kill in that area, recorded announcements showed today. This total might be revised upward if other sinkings are announced.

But the battle of the Atlantic entered a new phase with opening of the North African front presaging heavier United Nations supply ship traffic through submarine-infested North and South Atlantic waters.

Navy Secretary Knox foresaw "an ocean of subs" awaiting supply ships or convoys headed for Africa.

Here is why. Mitchell, when arrested, was found to have $1,619 on his person.

150,000 Allies Advancing By Land, Sea, Air

Nazis Keep Hands Off as Navy Says It Will Resist Any Attacker.

BULLETIN

LONDON —(U.P.)— The Vichy radio today broadcast a DNB (German) agency dispatch saying it was rumored that Admiral Jean Francois Darlan, Gen. Charles Auguste Nogues, and Gen. Henri Honore Giraud were trying to form a "counter-government" in North Africa.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Nazi Germany today mysteriously proclaimed a "hands off" policy regarding the French fleet at Toulon as German and American armies staged a break-neck race for occupation and mastery of strategic Tunisia.

The Vichy radio, now under Nazi control, announced that French naval chiefs at Toulon had voiced their intention to "resist all aggression" as a result of which the city was designated a "safe harbor."

The broadcast said:

"As the chiefs of the French navy have pledged themselves at Toulon to resist all aggression, German authorities have decided Toulon shall be a separate region. "Tulon will not be occupied and French warships will be safeguarded."

The Vichy broadcast presumably meant that reports the fleet might go over to the Allied side are without foundation, although the term "resist aggression" would not exclude the possibility of such a voluntary step if it is not now to late.

In any case, the Germans surged ahead with the complete

Allied Bombs Drop Near Tunis In Advance of Land Thrust.

(By United Press)

LONDON—A powerful Allied land, sea and air force today moved toward a showdown with the Axis in Tunisia, bulwarked by the British First army—an estimated force of 150,000 picked fighting men, including veterans of the battle of France.

Mobile American columns already had started the race for the Tunisian frontier and some reports placed the Allied spearhead within 50 to 100 miles of the border.

British troops, it was indicated, were swarming ashore to bolster the initial American striking force.

Brig. Gen. James A. Doolittle's American air fleet and Royal Air Force planes operating from Malta were pacing the advance and the RAF already had brought Axis concentrations in Tunisia under attack.

At sea the powerful fleet of Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham was believed steaming forward, possibly with fresh reinforcements, to challenge any Italian naval effort to intervene in the crucial struggle.

A report of German origin claimed that three Allied aircraft carriers, two battleships, four cruisers, 14 destroyers and more than 40 transports had assembled at Gibraltar—possibly representing a massing of Allied naval resources which had been strung out along the lengthy Morocco and Algerian coasts.

How much of the British First army already was ashore was a

TRAPPED: Japs on New Guinea Face Annihilation by Allies

(By International News Service)

GEN. M'ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA —Japanese forces trapped by Australian infantrymen near Oivi in the New Guinea jungle were reported today to be facing annihilation as Allied forces closed in on the enemy troops blocking the way to the main Japanese coastal base at Buna.

A communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said the enemy has been encircled in the vicinity of Oivi, and Gorari which is six miles to the east. The Japanese have been driven from their main defense positions by the steady advance of the Australian jungle fighters aided by steady and continuous straffings and bombings of the enemy-held area by allied planes.

Japanese losses were running high. The communique said enemy dead totalled more than 300 in the past three days' fighting.

The enemy forces were reported attempting to cut their way through the Australian lines, and paying heavily for the effort. The one avenue of escape was through rugged mountain country to the north. Enemy casualties in Wednes-

ATTACK: Allied Planes Bomb Rallying Point of Axis Troops

BULLETIN

CAIRO—(U.P.)—A. U. S. communique reported today that the American air force in the Middle East had carried out a series of sweeping attacks on Axis positions from Benghazi harbor, deep in Libya, to the Axis base at Candia, Crete.

(By Associated Press)

CAIRO—Twin-engined RAF bombers attacked an airdrome near Tunis, where Axis troops and planes have been reported gathering, set 19 planes afire and damaged as many more yesterday, a joint British headquarters-RAF communique said today.

Allied fighters shot down 23 Axis planes in these battles, it was reported. Six of these planes were described as large transport carriers.

The mass of Rommel's reatreating army has reached a point between Bardia and Gambut in Libya, the communique said. Trucks and armored cars were attacked by fighters and fighter bombers of the Allied air forces.

The RAF smash at the Tunis airdrome was made as United States troops were speeding toward the Tunisian border from the west, determined to crush any Axis attempt to take over the French protectorate, and at the same time to be in a position to intercept Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's retreating African corps.

Later dispatches, however, said that the eighth army had finished clearing Egyptian territory of the enemy. The only Axis soldiers remaining were on their way east as prisoners, after a clash at Buqbuq, just inside Egypt, where a Nazi

Inspired by current accomplishments of American armed forces overseas, Mansfield turned out in a big crowd last night to aid veterans of World war I in observing the 24th anniversary of the armistice which shifted hostilities from the battlefields to the peace tables.

Hundreds participated in the parade headed by massed national emblems and banners of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and United Spanish War veterans. Members of Co. F, Third regiment, Ohio State Guard, in their winter blue, followed the colors and

4,200 Richland Countians In Armed Forces, Check Reveals

Approximately 4,200 Richland county men are serving in the nation's armed forces, county selective boards revealed today after state draft headquarters set the number of inductees from the county at 3,152.

The local boards' figures includes men who have been inducted and an estimated 900 who enlisted in the army and navy before they were called by their draft boards.

Boards 1 and 2 in Mansfield have sent more than 1,000 men each to the army. The Board 3 total is slightly below the other two.

Meanwhile, clerks of the three county boards said decision of national draft headquarters to begin induction of men in essential industries would have little effect on the county picture.

Local boards were informed today that because of the increasing demands of the armed forces, it will be necessary to release a number of workers in essential industries for military service and replace them with other workers.

Clerks of the three Richland boards said a comparatively small number of men have been deferred here because of their jobs and they predicted that "only a few" would be affected by the order.

In the case of Board 3, which serves the county rural districts, it was pointed out that young farm workers have been deferred in certain cases because it was impossible to replace them.

One board clerk in Mansfield said certain industries in the city "have made no effort to train older men and women for replacements" and that they would be informed that they must prepare to lose some of their young men workers.

Boards are under no instructions to begin the wholesale induction of war workers and others in essential jobs, but clerks said industries would have to cooperate by preparing other workers for places now held by men who can meet army requirements.

A contingent of Board 2 men went to Cleveland today for physical examinations and induction. Board 3 will send a large group to Cleveland next Tuesday.

Calls for Tire Inspectors, Fees Set for Examinations

Furthering the gasoline-tire rationing set-up, the Richland county rationing board today sent out a call for tire inspectors, urging all who wish to serve to register at 43 North Mulberry street not later than Nov. 17.

Members of the gasoline rationing panel announced that 24 inspectors already have registered, mostly filling station and garage operators. The total required has not been determined by the panel.

Fees to tire inspection, according to rationing board officials, will be 25 cents per car (five tires) if the rubbers are not removed from the vehicle, and 50 cents per tire ($2 to $2.50 per vehicle) if the tires must be removed from the car.

Holders of gasoline A books are required to have tire inspections every four months while those holding C books must obtain tire examinations at 60-day intervals.

Although registration for basic A books has been postponed to Nov. 18-19-20 rationing officials announced that no extension of deadlines for commercial motor

FDR PROCLAIMS DAYS OF PRAYER

Asks Americans To Pray on Thanksgiving and New Year Day.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt in an unusual announcement, today proclaimed Thanksgiving day, and New Year day, as days of prayer—to be observed in prayer publicly and privately.

In his proclamation, the president recommended that all persons in the United States bear in mind the 23rd psalm which begins:

"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want."

The president began his proclamation with another quotation from the Bible declaring: "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord."

"The final months of this year, now almost spent, find our republic, and the nations joined with it, waging a battle on many fronts for the preservation of liberty," the president said.

"In giving thanks for the greatest harvest in the history of our nation, we who plant and reap can well resolve that in

CHAPTER XIV

Bruce smiled at the blond girl. "I want you to meet Livia." The pale face shone with friendliness.

"Bruce has told me so much about you—"

"How d'ye do?" Livia ignored the outstretched hand. Terry Davidson said suddenly.

"I've got it—you were on the Countess' yacht—" He stopped as swiftly as he had begun.

"Then you've already met Elizabeth's fiance?" Bruce asked Livia.

"Her fiance?" Livia echoed stupidly.

"Elizabeth is my sister." Bruce grinned.

"But your Chinese boy—you're not married?" she asked.

"No, but I will be soon,"—he arrested the vanishing smile—"to you if you don't run away again." The manager hustled up.

"I really must ask you to give your orders. There are other cars waiting to come in." Livia smiled and whipped out her order book.

"What will you have? You mustn't hold up the traffic this way." She was so happy she could sing.

"I'll drive Terry home," Elizabeth said. "You'd better stay here, Bruce. If you lose Livia again, I'll never forgive you."

Elizabeth waved to Livia as the car drove out.

It was all a dream. For the first time in a month Livia dropped a tray. Bruce helped her pick up the broken china and glass. They laughed uproariously while doing it.

"Come on, we're leaving," Bruce said.

She changed into her own clothes, and together they went to the manager.

"You must stay until we put someone in your place," he insisted.

"She can't possibly do that," interrupted Bruce. But Livia suddenly remembered Ted. What would he say when he heard she had gone?

"How long will it take to get someone?" she asked.

"Perhaps a day," the manager replied. "There are many girls who value a good job."

"All right, I'll work here another day."

Before leaving with Bruce Livia telephoned Ted. He took the news well—

"He's a lucky guy." Then casually, "When are you getting married?"

"Very soon. I'd like you to meet him—"

"No, thanks. I'm very busy."

"I'll see you tonight perhaps when I get home?"

"Please, Livia—let's not have a drag-out farewell. This isn't the movies, you know." She was a little hurt. But there was nothing more to be said. So she repeated: "Thank you for everything. Good-bye."

The Chinese boy was all smiles when Livia arrived with Bruce at the bungalow.

"Missy Nolan tell me she see you," he giggled. "I make big mistake, tell you Missy Nolan, wife Missy Nolan. But he say she Missy Nolan, and I think wife. But now Missy Nolan say you gonna be Missy Nolan!"

Terry Davidson marrying Bruce's sister! It oppressed Livia. She was glad Bruce did not approve the match.

"I'm trying to break it up, but Elizabeth thinks she loves him—and she's obstinate," he told her later as they drove to the summit of Lookout Mountain. How far away Hollywood seemed up there.

He kissed her, holding her tightly in his strong arms. She clung to him passionately.

"Oh, darling, you've no idea how much I love you," she whispered. "Let's stay here for the rest of our lives." He smiled.

"What d'ye think I am—stone? Come on—better go home now—while you can."

She looked back at the mountain—bleak and grey in the daytime—but now softly whitened with moonlight.

"When we're rich, we'll build a house on this very spot," Livia said. He kissed her gently. And they drove down the narrow winding road.

They were to be married Saturday morning in Santa Barbara. Three more days. They would have been the happiest three days of Livia's life, but for Elizabeth.

Elizabeth had met Terry Davidson when he came to Colorado for the premiere of "Lost on the Prairie." The Chamber of Commerce had given a dinner party for the visiting Hollywood celebrities, and Judge Nolan and his family were invited. Elizabeth was seated next to Terry at the long table. Terry made careful inquiries about Elizabeth. Her father was wealthy. Later, when the judge disinherited his only son, Bruce, for preferring what he called "vagabondage" in Hollywood to the family interests in Colorado, Terry again visited Elizabeth and learned from the Judge that all his property was to go to Elizabeth.

Terry remained in Colorado several weeks, made friends with the Judge, and love to Elizabeth. When Elizabeth explained to her father that Terry was willing to give up his Hollywood career and settle in Colorado, the Judge had given his consent to their engagement.

And now Bruce had invited Elizabeth to Hollywood. He wanted her to see Terry in his natural habitat, minus his party manners. Terry, realizing Bruce's dislike, pressed for an early marriage, but Elizabeth said: "Let's wait another month, Terry. We want to be sure."

Terry yielded with ill-concealed irritation. His option at the studio was not going to be renewed, and he was sick of making pictures anyway. The life of a country squire in Colorado appealed to him enormously.

"I wonder why you came here if not to get married right away," he said to Elizabeth. Bruce entered the room at that moment. He restrained an impulse to punch Terry's face and went out quickly.

It was an old dodge, but Bruce decided to try it. The next evening when Elizabeth had gone to bed, he said to Terry slowly and diffidently:

"I hardly know where to begin."

"About Elizabeth?" queried Terry.

"Yes."

"You mean our quarrel? That was nothing. Elizabeth's desperately in love with me." He couldn't resist boasting to Bruce.

"Sure," said Bruce. "I wasn't thinking of that. It's about Elizabeth's financial prospects. I know this doesn't make any difference to you, but—" he watched Terry closely— "Dad's lost everything he owns in a phoney silver mine."

Terry grinned. If they thought he was that sort of fool.

"Too bad," he said easily, "But that makes no difference to us." Bruce produced a telegram from his pocket.

"It came this morning," he said.

Terry read the telegram. If the message were true, Elizabeth would have nothing, which meant he, Terry, had nothing. In that case why was he marrying her? He read the wire again. Bruce did not think it necessary to explain that for once his father had agreed with him on a course of action.

"I thought you and your father were estranged?" said Terry suspiciously.

"I suppose he wanted me to break it gently to Elizabeth," said Bruce. "She's not very strong—a shock like this—"

"Yes, I see what you mean. Well—I must be getting home."

At the door he turned:—

"Will you do me a favor? Will you tell Elizabeth that I may have to leave town and will be gone for a few months?"

"Why don't you write her a note?" suggested Bruce.

"All right," said Terry.

He did, sealed the envelope and handed it to Bruce.

Bruce walked a step behind him to the door. He was unable to repress the impulse to boot his almost brother-in-law through it. He laughed at Terry's outraged face. Terry picked himself up and yelled:

"You damn fool. As far as I'm concerned, you can give your precious sister back to the Indians."

"Bruce!" Elizabeth was frenzied. She had come into the living room.

"I'll break every bone in his body," Bruce started after Terry. But Terry decided this was the wrong time to continue the conversation and fled.

"That's the end of him anyway," Bruce muttered, closing the door.

But it was not the end of Terry. When a small nature is tricked, it never forgives—or forgets. Terry nourished his hatred, always ready to hurt Bruce and those he loved.

Elizabeth, never very strong, collapsed. The wedding of Bruce and Livia was postponed. And when Elizabeth protested, Livia said cheerfully:

"You are my only bridesmaid. A girl's got to have a bridesmaid, or it isn't a wedding."

Elizabeth smiled wanly—and relapsed into silence. She lay for hours without saying a word. Bruce sometimes wondered whether his cure had not been worse than the disease.

Mansfield bowlers are patriotic people.

They've been responding this week to the Victory Legion drive being staged all over the country by bowling organizations, and responding in a way that indicates the Mansfield share of the event will be an even greater success than optimistic backers had even hoped for.

Bowling league participation in the Victory Legion consists of the donation of 25 cents this week by each league bowler to the United Service Organizations.

Club leaguers started the ball rolling Monday night with a 100 per cent contribution. The women's matinee league had a 100 per cent contribution Tuesday.

There may have been other 100 per cent leagues that haven't been called to my attention. But the leagues which didn't hit 100 per cent, didn't fall far short of that mark.

With thousands of bowlers all over the country giving their two bits this week, the final contribution to the USO will run into important money, and will go a long way toward brightening the life of the nation's defenders in camps and on far-flung battle fields.

It is this idea of helping a little to help a lot that has spurred the enthusiasm of the bowlers of Mansfield and the nation in this Victory Legion drive. League secretaries have experienced no difficulty here in collecting the 25 cents from the keglers.

Now comes the climax of the USO campaign this week—a head pin tournament in both men and women's divisions, to be conducted Saturday and Sunday at Colony alleys.

Officers of the hastily formed Victory Legion in Mansfield headed by Attorney John F. Kramer, veteran Mansfield kegler, hope the tournament will prove as big a success as the league participation in the drive.

Entry fee for the tournament will be $1.25 for two lines of bowling. Bowlers may enter as often as they please. Of the entry fee, 50 cents will go directly to the USO, 25 cents for prize money, and 50 cents for bowling fee, 20 per cent of which will be turned over to the USO by the Colony alleys.

The fee and the distribution of the money are set by the national Victory Legion organization, and not by the Colony alleys or the local Legion officers.

Incidentally, the money raised by Mansfield bowlers this week for the USO will be sent directly to the national headquarters of USO, Victory Legion officers have announced. None of it will go to the local USO chapter which is supported by the Community War Chest.

Money to be collected later for the Red Cross through the Victory Legion campaign will be paid to the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross.

Nine Teams Enter Church Cage Loop

Nine teams were lined up for a senior church basketball league at a meeting last night at the Y. M. C. A. building.

They are St. Luke's, St. John's, St. Matthews, Grace Gospel, Congregational, Baptist, First Lutheran, Grace Episcopal, and Central Methodist.

Another meeting will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. for final organization of the league. It was decided that church league players good enough to play in the City "A" league could continue to play in the church league.

Three teams have tentatively been set for a junior church league, Christian Apostolic, Episcopal, and St. Paul's

Passers Work Out For Bucks

Ohio State Tapers Off For Illinois Battle.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—With passing still the practice theme, Ohio State tapers off a bit today in its build-up for Saturday's football game with Illinois in Cleveland.

The passers, George Slusser, Paul Sarringhaus and Les Horvath, were slated for plenty of pitching as the Bucks sought to polish up offensive tactics for the contest which will affect the Western conference title hopes of both teams.

Riding in first place with Illinois and Iowa, Ohio's gridders got no Armistice day vacation from their football chores. Yesterday they were put through their second rigorous day of action working on defense against Illinois plays and developing their own aerial offense.

Coach Paul Brown stressed passing for two reasons: he wants to give the Bucks a more varied attack and he fears Illinois may use a seven-man line to stop Ohio's powerful ground game. A strong passing attack would force Illinois to shift from the seven-man line to a six-two-two-one or a five-two-three-one defense.

"Too many of our touchdowns have come the hard way—by pounding our heads off," said Brown. "If our air game can be kept sharp we'll go farther—faster."

The Buck players, zipping through the stiff workouts this week, saw in the Illinois contest a chance to redeem themselves for the Wisconsin set-back—the only blot on the Ohio record this season.

Backfieldmen also were giving their ball-handling a lot of attention. Fumbles helped lose the Wisconsin game and Illinois is a notorious ball-stealing outfit.

Moxley Hits High In Westie-C Loop

Irish Rule Out Bowl Contests

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(U.P.)—Notre Dame faculty heads today ruled that the Irish could not play in any post-season bowl football games.

Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., university vice president and chairman of the faculty board in control of athletics, said that long-standing regulations prohibit participation in post-season grid games.

Like Father, Like Son

War or no war, Jimmy Wilde, jr., son of the Welsh boxer who ruled the flyweight division, finds time to engage in a boxing match with a buddy somewhere in Egypt. Wilde, jr., is at the left. Wilde, sr., quit boxing in 1922.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mention boxing "style" to an ordinary fight fan and he may have a vague idea what you're talking about. . . . Bring it up around the fight mob and you'll find they take it very seriously although explanations usually stop at saying that one fighter is "orthodox" and another isn't. . . . For instance, after Max Schmeling flattened Joe Louis in their first encounter, Joe explained: "I couldn't fight him; he fought me sideways." . . . Later Al Weill figured it out that Arturo Godoy could get along against Louis by ducking down almost to the floor—and it worked.

ALL IN FUN.

Employes at a Pittsburgh hotel are telling one about a blown-in-the-bottle grid fan who turned up last Saturday, waving an Ohio State banner and asking the way to the Pitt stadium. . . . Informed that the Pitt-Ohio State tussle was to take place in Columbus, he merely grinned and said, "Oh well, let's have a good time anyhow." . . . Maybe he had the right idea at that, considering how much fun there is in 59-19.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Bob Hooey, Columbus Ohio State Journal: "If Joe Gordon was 'floored' when informed he had been selected as the American league's most valuable player, he probably was knocked out when Judge Landis announced fining the Yankee second baseman $250 for his run in with Umpire Magerkurth in the world series."

SERVICE DEPT.

Petey Scalzo, former NBA featherweight champ, reports for induction at Camp Upton, N. Y., today. . . . And Jackie Fields, ex-welterweight boss, is at Camp Meade, Md. . . . When Lieut. T. Suffern Tailer, chairman of the officers' athletic committee at the Norfolk Naval Training station, sent out a questionnaire on what activities the officers preferred, 340 out of 501 voted for informal pistol and rifle shooting and only 95 favored Tommy's favorite sport, golf.

NOVA BOOKED FOR MAURIELLO BOUT

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Lou Nova, California heavyweight and Tami Mauriello of New York were signed today for a 10-round bout at Madison Square garden Dec. 11.

Mauriello suffered a broken nose in a recent victory over Lee Savold of Patterson, N. J., and withdrew a scheduled fight with Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland Nov. 27. Savold was substituted to face Bivins.

Les Horvath Took Chance

Turned Down Father's Advice on Education.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—It's against all the teachings, but Les Horvath got what he wanted by refusing to take parental advice.

What he wanted was a berth on the Ohio State football team, and when he landed as a regular at right halfback his father probably admitted he had been wrong.

If Les had listened to his male parent, Charles Horvath of suburban Parma, he would have been playing with Ohio Northern instead of the Buckeyes.

Because of Les' size—he weighed only 152 when he entered Ohio State—the father wanted him to enroll in a small college where "he would be reasonably certain of playing on the first team."

"I tried to interest him in Ohio Northern—that's my old school," the father said. "Les wouldn't listen to me and I finally gave up and told him to head for Columbus and be prepared to sit on the bench every Saturday."

But the son remembered another under-sized Buckeye gridder, Tippy Dye, and embarked on a college football career in the big-time. His parents aren't sorry that he refused his father's advice. They've missed only one Ohio State home game in the three years Les has been playing.

Has Rival On Defense

Miami, Fla., Pushes Tulsa For Top Ranking.

By ARNOLD DERTLITZKI

CHICAGO—(AP)—Tulsa's unbeaten and untied Hurricanes now have a rival for honors as the nation's top defensive team. It's little Miami of Florida.

The American football statistical bureau said today that Miami at first was not regarded as a major team, but that because of its record and opposition, it no longer could be ignored in the national tabulations.

Although beaten twice (by Jacksonville Naval Pre-Flight, 14-0, and by North Carolina State, 2-0), total defense figures show that Miami has held its opponents to an average of 93 yards a game for six contests. Right behind comes Tulsa with 101. Miami has defeated Tampa, St. Louis, Rollins, and Furman and has yet to play Florida, South Carolina and West Virginia.

Tulsa boasted of a 90-yard average until its meeting with Oklahoma A. and M. last week. They not only gave up more ground than usual but also permitted the first touchdown by an opponent, although winning 34-6.

Miami and Tulsa also ran one-two in pass defense where Miami had allowed its foes an average of 28.8 yards a game and Tulsa 34. At rushing defense, where Boston college was far ahead of the field with a 26-yard average, Miami held eighth place with 66 and Tulsa ninth with 67.

Tulsa continued to run first in team passing and punting, but had to give up the lead in total offense to Georgia.

Georgia, paced by Frankie Sinkwich, was averaging 433.9 yards a game to Tulsa's 427. Ohio State, out of the 400 class for a week, bounced back with 422 for third place. Then comes Missouri 384; Boston college 374, Hardin-Simmons 372 and Texas 359.

The first five leaders in team rushing remained unchanged from last week. Hardin-Simmons led with a 340.7 average. Ohio State had 316, Missouri 304, Texas 279 and Boston college 273.

OLD OIL FIELDS USED TO STORE GAS RESERVES

They're Being Utilized as Reservoirs to Free Vital Materials For War.

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES—Vast subterranean cavities created by withdrawal of petroleum now are being converted into huge storage "tanks" to free vital materials for fighting the war on more important fronts.

The scheme to use mother earth for storing unused war energies has been developed in Southern California but experts believe it is applicable elsewhere.

The shortage of steel and other metals needed in the war program has made it impossible to construct conventional tanks for gas storage. In view of this, the Defense Plant Corporation, under the war powers act, recently took over a worn-out oil field near Los Angeles and is converting it into an underground natural gas reservoir, to be tapped when present supplies are over-taxed during the winter months.

The many new war industries and the consequent increased population have overloaded the community's normal gas supply to such an extent that a daily shortage of 16,000,000 cubic feet was anticipated this winter.

However, the plan which has been put into operation will pump 20,000,000 cubic feet daily into the earth between the present and the anticipated peak load in January. Officials point out that this will be more than ample to assure a steady flow of gas to private consumers and industry alike until next spring.

No critical materials are being used for the storage project, according to engineers, since pipe and compressors, in use when the field was producing, are already on hand.

No doubt exists regarding the practicability of the venture, for a successful precedent has been set at the Paloma field, 100 miles north of Los Angeles. There, natural gas from producing wells is returned 10,000 feet below the surface under 6,000 pounds pressure and has been a major factor in stabilizing winter consumption in that locality.

WAR EFFORT CUTS JOBLESS CLAIMS IN OHIO TO NEW LOWS

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS— Industrial Ohio's war effort has resulted in record lows in claims and benefits of the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation.

October benefits dropped below one-half million dollars—$472,906—for the fust time in any month since the bureau was established four years ago. The previous low was $613,308 for October, 1941.

October's new claims dropped to 6,598, against September's 6,664—another all-time low.

Still another record figure was hung up when the average number of weekly benefit recipients fell last month to 10,569, compared to 12,984 in October, 1941.

BUS Administrator Herschel C. Atkinson said new claims filed in October were 16 000 less than the average month in the bureau's history. The amount of benefit payments in October was $1,140,000 under the BUC's average month and the weekly number of persons receiving benefits fell 28,000 under the average.

Coincidentally, Atkinson observed that the taxable wages of Ohio employers for the first half of 1912, totaling $1,725,000,000, were 28 per cent above taxable wages for the last half of 1941.

"This increase was due largely to higher rates of pay, fuller employment and overtime paid covered workers," said Atkinson. "This helps create funds to be available for benefits when employment slumps."

The BUC said contributions received, or receivable for, the first half of 1942 amounted to $20,869,995 and predicted approximately the same figure for the final six months.

Atkinson said Ohio's fund for benefits now exceeds $260,000,000.

WAR REVIVES DRY CAMPAIGN

Prohibitionists Increasingly Active Ever Since Pearl Harbor.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—The people of the United States may have to decide whether they want liquor prohibition during World War II, as that voted 24 years ago when the American forces were in France.

Advocates of "drying up" America again have become increasingly active, especially since Pearl Harbor. They want a law similar to the Eighteenth amendment to the constitution forbidding the manufacture, sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages which was repealed in 1933, ending a riotous era of bootlegging and riotous era of bootlegging and Widespread public attention was called to the issue recently when Senator Josh Lee, Oklahoma Democrat, attempted to include in the measure lowering the military draft age from 20 to 18, an amendment that would prohibit the sale of liquor in communities adjacent to military camps.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson asserted that it would mean army-enforced prohibition in such centers as New York, Chicago and San Francisco. By a vote of 49 to 25, the senate sent the proposal to the Military Affairs committee, virtually killing it.

Now that at least 600,000 United States troops are overseas and with that number steadily increasing, the anti-prohibitionists believe the "drys" will try to stage a coup like that of 1918 when about 2,000,000 American troops were in foreign lands.

Evidence that prohibitionists see in the war an opportunity to curb or kill "demon rum," is seen in increased attention given the issue by newspapers. The New York World-Telegram recently reprinted on its front page a dispatch dated March 26, 1929, telling how Illinois police raided a home, killing a woman and clubbing her husband into unconsciousness merely to confiscate one-half gallon of wine.

It has been estimated that enforcement of prohibition cost the federal government alone $500,000,000 plus the loss of $10,000,000,000 in liquor revenue. At the same time gang lords such as Al Capone, became immensely wealthy selling bootleg liquor. They didn't pay income taxes, so the government revenue suffered even more.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Before the war, Switzerland only Great Britain and Belgium was one of the most highly in- having a relatively greater industrialized states of Europe, with trial population.

AN OLD TRICK

Most 'Gas Savers' No Good, Engineers Declare.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Columbus Better Business bureau reports that gasoline rationing has caused millions of motorists to become receptive to any plausible sounding idea for saving gas.

Among the devices offered are the spark plug gadgets which smooth-talking salesmen have sold on street corners for years.

Although street hawkers make it appear to the uninitiated that these ignition gadgets improve motor economy, automotive engineers have declared that they yield no improvement in either power or fuel economy, the bureau said.

EXPERIMENT ON 'RUBBER VINE'

MIAMI, Fla. —(INS)— Extensive agricultural experiments --including cultivation of a vine said to be capable of producing rubber a year after planting—are being carried on as a co-operative venture by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Republic of Haiti.

Thomas F. Fennell, head of the project for the Department of Agriculture, revealed in Miami that the project has been in operation for several months in the Islands and now employs approximately 12,000 Haitians.

COMMUNITY SURVEY ANSWER FORM

(Copyright, 1941, Wid Gunning)

EACH DAY OF THE WEEK ..... TO .....

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

On Page 1 of the paper each day you will find a list of the advertisements to be checked that day.

All you have to do is to decide each day which Large Ad, which Medium Ad and which Small Ad you think will do the advertiser the most good. Just write three names on this blank each day.

$750.00 in awards go to those readers whose selections are nearest to what the majority of readers think. Every week is a separate survey with a dozen or more cash awards each week.

Every member of any family may send in one answer each week and there are many awards each week, but only one award for a good answer will go to any one family in any one week.

I THINK THESE ADS WILL DO THE ADVERTISERS THE MOST GOOD.

	LARGE ADS	MEDIUM ADS	SMALL ADS
Sun.
Mon.
Tues.
Wed.
Thurs.
Fri.
Sat.

You are NOT required to write a letter to receive an award.

The awards are decided on the selections above. We would really appreciate it, though, if you would write a note saying what you DO NOT LIKE and . . . also . . . WHY YOU LIKED some of the good ads.

We sincerely want your suggestions and ideas of how we may improve our advertising service for your benefit. Write your letter in your own way! It's the thoughts and suggestions that matter. You are not being "judged" by your letters. Actually they have nothing to do with the awards . . . but . . . they will be helpful by giving additional information to our merchants.

Your criticisms and suggestions will be given to the merchants to help them to improve their advertisements BUT the merchants will NOT be given the names of those who write the letters. This is so you may say just what you really think without embarrassment.

Answers Must Be In By Tuesday Midnight The Week After the Selections Are Made!

FRANKLY, I DON'T THINK THE JUDGE CAN GO THRU THE PERFORMANCE AS A 'BLOOD-DONOR'— HE LOOKS AS RUDDY AS A BALDWIN,— BUT THAT'S ONLY ON THE SURFACE!
I RECALL ONCE WHEN HE CUT HIS CHIN WHILE SHAVING, AND IN A FEW MINUTES HIS FACE PALED LIKE THE SKIN OF A SNARE DRUM!
YEH, HE'LL DIM OUT BEFORE IT'S HALF OVER AN' THEY'LL HAVE TO STOP AND PIPE IT BACK IN HIM, WITH AN ADDED SHOT OF RED INK!

OIL FIELDS IN ENGLAND, HINT

CINCINNATI—(INS)— If reports of the discovery of petroleum in quantity in Great Britain prove true it will be of great interest scientifically as well as being of extreme importance in the Allied war effort, University of Cincinnati geologists assert.

Dr. John L. Rich, head of the university geology-geography department, said that southern, central and eastern England and southeastern Scotland have long been known to be so constituted geologically that the presence of petroleum should be expected.

MIXED TRENDS CLOUD ACTION IN STOCK MART

Weekly Construction Awards Reach Fourth Highest Level in History.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Mixed trends clouded the direction in today's early stock market proceedings

Gainers of fractions to a point included American Telephone, American Water Works, Eastman Kodak, Sears Roebuck and U. S. Steel. Lower were Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, Western Union and United Aircraft.

Some market encouragement was derived from the survey of the Engineering News-Record disclosing heavy construction awards this week totaled $304,221,000, fourth highest weekly figure ever reported by the publication.

Helpful were estimates that October sales of leading mail order and chain store companies exceeded those of the same month a year ago by 16 2 per cent

FARM DAMAGE CLAIMS HIGHER

October Payments By County Total $438; More Attacks By Dogs Reported.

Claims against the county for livestock killed by dogs increased $55 last month over the September losses and are expected to go higher this month as the result of recent raids on sheep and other farm animals.

County commissioners approved 14 claims totaling $438 for October. The September figure was $383.

County Dog Warden William Miller said two dogs raided sheep flocks on six farms near Plymouth, causing heavy damage over the past week-end while a Great Dane dog attacked a young cow and a pony on a farm south of the city, seriously injuring the cow.

He has had a number of calls recently to investigate reports of sheep slain by dogs in various parts of the county.

Claims approved for October losses were:

Clyde Berry, $12; L. A. Bemiller, $20; D. L. Cassell, $74; Warren Edgar, $10; Clark Gatton, $10; Mrs. B. F. Harter, $12; Roy Kirkpatrick, $75; Hugh McMeeken, $24; R. J. Mitchell, $67; Ira Rider, $24; L. L. Rinehart, $22; Grover Snyder, $24; Charles Trimble, $12; W. B. Volz, $30.

Soldiers Enjoy Walking---If It's With Pretty Girls

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — The legend of the bus driver who went for a bus ride on his day off is going to have a little competition from the soldier who likes a walk during his free time, according to Mrs. Kathryn Stauffer, supervising hostess of the Defense Council's Hospitality center.

But, she added, the soldiers like to do their walking with pretty girls.

The center recently substituted walks to Philadelphia points of interest instead of bus tours to save gasoline and rubber. The guides were pretty dance hostesses from the center, and the soldiers reported they'd "rather walk than ride any day."

JOKE ON JAPS

SEATTLE, Wash. — (INS) — The whole nation has long been aware of Washington's famous Willapa Harbor oysters. But now there's a laugh—and the joke's on the Japs. They furnished 'em.

The present "Pacific" oyster, cultivated on 5,000 acres of tideland and yielding a harvest of a million bushels a year, was imported in 1928 from Japan.

Strike Rapidly Toward Border After Allied Bombers Make Advance Raid on Airfield.

military secret. However, the appointment of Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson, First army commander, as commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Algeria was taken to indicate that the whole force is being thrown in to back up the initial American assault troops.

This is the army which fought the Germans in northern France and Belgium, eventually being evacuated through Dunkirk. It is regarded as the cream of Britain's Fighting Force, having been fully reorganized, all losses replaced and its armored strength brought back to par after Dunkirk.

Twin American columns, one driving east along the Mediterranean coast and the other cutting to the southeast with the apparent intention of striking directly across Tunisia at Tripolitania, were reported advancing rapidly.

One London report said the Americans were less than 100 miles from the Tunisia frontier and there were indications in a Rome report of a fighter plane battle north of Cape Bone that the American advance may be proceeding even more rapidly than indicated by official reports.

The initial blow in the Tunisia battle, a Cairo communique revealed, was struck Tuesday when a force of twin-motored British bombers, presumably from Malta, attacked the airdrome outside Tunis and set afire or destroyed 19 Axis planes on the ground.

These planes were part of the force which the Germans have been rushing into Tunisia in a desperate effort to hold off the rapidly-developing American-British pincers which is closing in from west and east on Marshal Erwin Rommel's battered forces.

The distance between the advanced positions of the British Eighth army in Libya and the Americans in Algeria now is about 1,400 miles.

It was believed the attack at Tunis was particularly damaging to the Germans because they have not yet been able to move any large numbers of troops into the French colony. The size of the Axis force there is estimated at not much more than 1,000 men.

The French, however, have upward of 100,000 troops in Tunisia, known to be a well-trained, hard-hitting force which should be capable of strong resistance unless its will to fight has been weakened by the American occupation of North Africa and the German occupation of France.

Reports from the French and German radios said that the Nazi occupation was proceeding rapidly and according to schedule.

The Nazi high command announced that three German armored divisions had reached the Mediterranean. The Germans also said that they would not occupy the French naval headquarters at Toulon, being satisfied with assurances of the French fleet commanders that they would protect their warships against any aggression.

The Nazis, it appeared, planned to move their forces into positions which would make it possible for them to prevent the French warships from escaping and to fight off any Allied attacks on the fleet.

The British First army, said here to number 150,000 men and to include several armored divisions, was racing across the eastern Algerian plains toward Tunisia accompanied by an American army of unknown size, but said to be large. They were approaching the Tunisian border, headed for Bizerte where the Nazis were frenziedly landing troops in big Junkers transport planes in the hope of assembling enough to stem them.

The British-American army commanded by the doughty British soldier, Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. Anderson, commander of the First army, with Maj. Gen. Charles W. Ryder, second in command, was probably advancing under the protection of an umbrella of planes from Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle's 12th American air force and possibly from carriers in an Allied fleet accompanying the expedition off the coast.

The Axis was known to have landed a number of warplanes on Bizerte's air field and these may have already contacted the Allied fighters. The Axis' own appraisal of their chances in what appeared a desperate gamble to halt the British and Americans before they could drive through Tunisia and take Tripoli, capital of Italian Libya and cut off the eastward retreat of Gen. Erwin Rommel's beaten Afrika Korps, was seen in denials broadcast by Axis radio that any Axis troops were in Tunisia.

The prize of the impending battle was of vast importance. Bizerte commands a strategic position at the narrowest part of the Mediterranean, only 110 miles south of the southern tip of Italian Sardinia, 160 miles west of Sicily, within two-hour bomber range of Rome and Naples and but 370 miles from Taranto the main Italian naval base. Bizerte also is a highly developed naval base, heavily fortified for an attack by sea.

What resistance, if any, French forces in Tunisia had offered to the Axis invaders was not known, but Admiral Jean Pierre Estevan the governor is not regarded as a collaborationist. There were some 100,000 French in the 2,500,000 population and they have long been known as no lovers of the Italians who have long coveted the territory.

The possibility that the United Nations would get the French fleet and might even be joined by Petain was based mainly upon the statement of a spokesman of the Fighting French in Cairo. He announced that parts of the fleet which had been at Toulon, on the French Mediterranean coast, had steamed to sea to join the Allied fleet. Later he reiterated this announcement, adding that it had been "confirmed."

At the same time, he asserted that Petain, accompanied by Gen. Maxime Weygand, had escaped from France by air and flew to North Africa during the night to join the Allies.

There was no confirmation for either statement in any other quarter, but the Axis radios were indefinite as both to Petain's whereabouts and the fate of the French fleet.

It was pointed out that if the Axis had the fleet, it would be inclined to advertise the fact if for no other purpose than to slow the rapid solidification of French forces in North Africa behind the Allied cause.

A part of the French fleet has been demobilized at Alexandria since the fall of France. The maintenance crews often are in possession of authentic information from continental France and it was suggested that they may have been the source of the Fighting French spokesman's confident announcements.

Lieut. Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander in chief of American-British forces in North Africa, broadcast an appeal to the French fleet last night to join United Nations forces.

Allied quarters speculated that Admiral Jean Francois Darlan, commander of Vichy's armed forces who ordered cessation of resistance in North Africa yesterday, may have commanded the proud French navy to throw in its lot with the Allies. There were reasons to believe that the French officers and seamen would obey such an order if it was issued. Darlan is a navy man; Petain is not.

The Axis was reported to have seized El Alunia airport, outside Tunis and Sidi Armed, the airfield for Bizerte. The troops had been ferried across the 130-mile strait from Sicily and from Sardinia by huge German Junkers air transports. It was not believed they had more than 1,000 men there but those were being reinforced.

They were believed the vanguard of stronger units Adolf Hitler was expected to send as German and Italian troops raced through France and took up positions on the Mediterranean coast "under belly of Europe" and the French island of Corsica.

The Axis radios were issuing conflicting reports concerning Tunisia. A Havas (French) news agency dispatch said it had been officially denied in Tunis that Axis forces had landed in Tunisia. Simultaneously, radio Paris was reporting that measures were being taken to evacuate Tunisia's civil population. The presence of Axis troops was confirmed by Allied spokesmen in London and North Africa.

Capt. Oliver Lyttelton, British minister of production, in New York last night said that more than 500 troop and supply ships, supported by 350 warships, participated in the invasion of North Africa.

Lyttleton's semi-official revelation indicated that the invasion fleet was the greatest armada ever assembled and that the Allies went into Africa fully prepared to cope with whatever Hitler's hurried armies could assemble to oppose them.

Reports from Spanish, Portuguese and Axis sources indicated that the Allied African forces constantly were being strengthened from Gibraltar where "intense airplane and troop activity" was reported.

Berlin Says Axis Planes Bomb Algiers

BERLIN (from German broadcasts)—The German high command said today that Axis planes had bombed American-held Algiers and that German planes had scored hits with heavy bombs on an aircraft carrier, a cruiser and a big merchant ship off the Algerian coast.

The communique said that two transports totaling 16,000 tons were sunk at Bougie, the Allied-occupied port 110 miles east of Algeria, and that "continuous waves" of Axis planes attacked a landing group and damaged 12 warships, merchant ships and passenger ships.

In this group of damaged ships, it was said, were another aircraft carrier, a heavy cruiser and two destroyers.

Meanwhile, in the western Mediterranean German submarines sank a troop transport of 19,600 tons, another of 12,000 tons and a freighter of 4,000 tons, while two warships, including a destroyer, were damaged, the communique said.

Operators of commercial motor vehicles must present certificates of war necessity to their rationing boards in order to obtain authority to purchase gasoline, rationing officials say.

This certificate is required as a preliminary to obtaining tires and spare parts, OPA officials have ruled.

Volunteer secretaries for each division are receiving hourly reports from division majors at commando headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. No formal meeting is planned but all leaders are expected to submit final reports before Saturday evening. Another report is to be turned in by them at 10 a. m. Friday.

JAPANESE FORCE CAUGHT IN TRAP ON NEW GUINEA

Face Annihilation By Aussies as Allies Close Road To Buna Base.

day's fighting were reported to be at least 150 dead, and some prisoners have been taken.

Allied planes continued to bomb the enemy's rear positions and the highway leading north to Buna. Attacks were directed at bridges in an effort to block the Japanese retreat.

Meantime other bombers ranged through the New Guinea area in assaults on nearby Japanese bases as far as the northern Solomons. An Allied reconnaissance unit shot down two of ten enemy fighters encountered over Shortlands island. Another squadron of heavy and medium bombers again smashed at enemy shore installations in the Buin-Faisi area of southern Bougainville island in a night attack. Results were not observed.

Bombers making a night attack on Lae, New Guinea, encountered an enemy destroyer which was heavily attacked, but it was not known whether the warship was damaged. At nearby Lae two of four Zeros which attempted to intercept Allied bombers were shot out of the skies.

Heavy formations of Allied fighters and attack-planes again raided Buna and the area between San Anda and Wairopi. Attacks were made on troop positions, supply stations and barges which are being assembled along the coast for the expected Japanese attempt to withdraw its beaten forces from the Papuan peninsula.

U. S. Lashes Japs In Aleutians, Solomons

WASHINGTON —(INS)— American land, sea and air forces today are lashing out offensively against Japan in the Aleutians and the Solomons with increasing frequency and deadly effect.

While fresh Japanese counter-blows were considered inevitable, especially on Guadalcanal, developments have shown that Japan's headlong Pacific invasion drive has been checked for months.

Furthermore, battle reports disclosed that the enemy has been taking more and more time out between rounds in the three main war theaters of the Pacific.

The navy in a communique stated that American troops, supported by army planes, have continued their offensive operations against the Japs both east and west of the vital Henderson airfield on Guadalcanal.

Except for feeble enemy thrusts, this American onslaught has proceeded with little interruption since the last all-out enemy offensive to retake Guadalcanal was smashed late in October.

The navy also revealed that American planes attacked a small Japanese naval flotilla of five destroyers, similar to the fleet units used by the enemy to land reinforcements on Guadalcanal, east of New Georgia island with unobserved results.

The Japs in the Aleutians area have made no gains or further thrusts since they occupied the Kiska area last June and recently they have been subjected to a merciless U. S. aerial bombardment whenever weather permitted.

A navy communique stated that U. S. army planes on Nov. 9 resumed their bombing attacks on Kiska after a brief lull and that two Jap transports were hit in the harbor.

The navy also said that American planes destroyed seven Jap float-type aircraft at Attu, another Aleutian island which the Japanese were believed to have abandoned as a base late in September.

FINE SUSPENDED

SHELBY—Charged with failing to stop his automobile at the scene of an accident, Elmer Fry, Shelby R. D. 2, was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to 25 days in the county jail Wednesday in Mayor W. R. Morris' court.

The fine and jail sentence were suspended providing Fry pay damages to two parked cars with which he collided on West Main street.

FREDERICKTOWN — The Fredericktown Community Prince of Peace contest was held at the Palmyra Church of Christ recently before a large audience.

suicide rearguard tried to hold out yesterday.

United States army headquarters reported its fighter planes again had backed up the ground operations yesterday with a large-scale sweep which set fires to enemy transport. Three Nazi dive-bombers were shot down.

The British communique said that ten Allied aircraft failed to return from the operations in Libya and Tunisia.

The huge Allied air strength in Egypt has now been thrown against what is left of Rommel's air power in Libya and widespread fighting developed yesterday.

The transport carriers apparently were being used either to bring reinforcements to Rommel's army or to speed up his headlong retreat.

British bombers continued to smash at Tobruk where a sizeable garrison of Rommel's troops is waiting the arrival of the Axis desert army, and other formations continued to bomb the airdromes on the Italian island of Sardinia, jumping-off place for Axis planes operating against U. S. troops in Algeria.

drastic compulsory legislation."

The committee said it was satisfied that when a definite policy that "makes sense" was announced, "voluntary cooperation will be forthcoming in full measure from the overwhelming majority of the American people."

The committee made these other major recommendations:

The balancing, under one director, of the manpower needs for the armed forces, military production and essential civilian enterprise; volunteering only when approved by the selective service and local manpower committees; deferment from active service of essential workers who remain on jobs;

Further reductions in civilian production, expansion of training programs, increases in the productivity of those now employed by suspension of hampering work rules, and drastic reductions or entire elimination of work relief employment.

the year to come, we will do all in our power to pass that milestone; for by our labors in the field we can share some part of the sacrifice with our brothers and sons who wear the uniform of the United States.

"Inspired with faith and courage by these words, let us turn again to the work that confronts us in this time of national emergency: in the armed services and the merchant marine; in factories and offices; on farms and in the mines; on highways, railways, and airways; in other places of public service to the nation; and in our homes."

NAZIS KEEPING 'HANDS OFF' FRENCH FLEET

Announce Policy After Navy Says It Will Resist Any Aggressor.

occupation of France and took over Marseilles, only 42 miles from Toulon. German broadcasts continued to insist the occupation was carried out in an orderly manner, with no resistance from the people.

There were growing indications, however, of German troubles elsewhere. A dispatch from Istanbul told of Axis troops in Athens firing on Greek students who demonstrated in the streets in celebration of the Allied victory in Egypt, while the Nazi radio reported that all Turkish soldiers, sailors and airmen have been ordered to join their units.

The Swiss radio said, according to Exchange Telegraph, that the Germans had blown up the entire coastal railroad simultaneously with their occupation of Marseilles.

Vichy declared "everything normal" in the town and harbor of Toulon.

In their southward advance to gain positions where Adolf Hitler fears American and British invasion forces are preparing to strike, the Germans took over numerous strategic inland cities.

Nazi forces were said to have established control of the frontier bordering Switzerland at Moille Suliaz, between Geneva and Annemasse.

A Swiss radio report said that the Germans had arrived at Clermont-Ferrand, St. Etienne and Campfrance on the Spanish frontier.

The populations of Marseilles was understood to have been ordered to remain indoors.

Marseilles, scene of numerous invasions since it was colonized by the Greeks in 600 B. C., lies 12 miles northwest of the Toulon naval base toward which the Germans appeared to be driving hastily in an attempt to gain control of ships of the French fleet.

Whereabouts of the main French naval units is shrouded in mystery. The fleet has been reported to have left Toulon but Axis statements up until late yesterday contended that the war vessels still lay in the harbor.

Italian forces which crossed the southeastern frontier when Hitler ordered the Nazi legions to march across the former line of demarcation between occupied and unoccupied France were said to have arrived in Cannes during the night after first occupying Nice.

The Spanish radio announced that the Franco-Spanish border still remained open but said that German soldiers were arriving to take over all border services.

It was said that Generalissimo Francisco Franco at a cabinet meeting ordered the strengthening of Spanish garrisons at several provincial towns. The Malaga chrome and nickel mines were placed under state control.

British and American nationals in the areas now being occupied were reported interned after being denied permissions to cross the frontiers either to Spain or Switzerland.

Particular anxiety was felt in French quarters in London for former French leaders involved in the Riom "war guilt" trials, including former premiers, Edouard Daladier, Paul Reynaud and Leon Blum.

There was no new word on the various reports concerning the whereabouts of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain. One account said that he and Gen. Maxime Weygand had fled for an unknown destination, possibly Algiers, while Vichy insisted that he remained at government headquarters after protesting against the German occupation of southern France.

BATTLE CERTAIN

LONDON (INS)—A great naval battle in the South Pacific is inevitable, an American naval spokesman declared today.

"The Japanese can't expect to accomplish much without their navy and won't send a boy on a man's errand," the spokesman said. "God being willing, neither will we."

CROWD STREETS TO SEE PARADE

color guard with McVey post Legion drum corps and post members next in line.

Thousands who lined the streets along the route of march cheered each unit and many uncovered (and many didn't) as divisional colors passed.

Units included the Red Cross motor corps, the Madison high school band and the Navy Mothers club who drew applause in great volume, Blue Star Mothers and Gold Star Mothers of the first and current world conflicts, Mansfield Senior high school band, Legion Cadets, city fire apparatus, CIO 711 band with color guard, civilian defense nurses' aids in ambulances, the Johnny Appleseed Junior high school band, children carrying banners of agencies in the War Chest drive, the Crestline high school band, white-helmeted air wardens and other defense units, the John Simpson Junior high school band and members of the Red Cross service corps.

Ahead of a War Chest float a team of ponies drew an ancient hearse awaiting the bodies of the Axis chiefs.

Brisk cold weather could not dampen Mansfield's ardor as the city formed en masse to hear victorious reports of majors leading Commando units in the War Chest offensive. This part of the celebration occurred at Central park. Gil Baird acted as master of ceremonies on a truck platform furnished by Westinghouse and decorated by Wade and Galton nurseries. The public address installation was by Ralph Walsh.

As different majors reported results of their battalions' solicitations cheers rose to echo to the troubled Axis leaders overseas who are trembling in the wake of a rising American wrath.

Arranged chiefly by officers of McVey post of the American Legion, the parade climaxed a day of reverent celebration. Prayer services were conducted at First Presbyterian church by the Richland county Ministerial association. At 11 a. m. ceremonies honoring the dead of past wars were conducted by women's organizations at Central park, a Legion firing squad saluting the dead. At 6 p. m. retreat ceremonies were conducted by Company F as the colors were lowered at Central park.

While industry and commerce paused but momentarily during the day to observe the occasion, a great demonstration was seen in the whir of machines turning out war materiel to defeat the Axis.

Studebaker says:
"Wartime care will save your car"

Government regulation of driving makes it clear that every one of our cars and trucks is vital to the nation's need for essential wartime transportation.

Less driving means more danger from corrosion, sticking parts and leaking engine gaskets. Slower speeds make small irregularities of engine performance more bothersome.

Your car should be lubricated and inspected on the basis of time rather than mileage intervals.

Use your car carefully. Give it regular maintenance. This is the best way to preserve it. Simple, yes, but important.

Studebaker dealers are engaged in a wartime service program—to assist you—regardless of the make of car or truck you own.

Strikes That Delay War Production

ANOTHER effort is being made to bring about unity between the CIO and the American Federation of Labor. It is announced that committees representing both organizations will meet in Washington soon, with a view to ironing out differences.

It would appear that in the midst of war, when people who abuse free institutions are in danger of losing them, that those who must be deeply concerned about the outcome would be the first to lay aside personal and group animosities in behalf of their country's welfare.

But this does not seem to have been the case in last week's strike of 7,000 workers in Detroit, with resultant closing of a half dozen vital war plants, nor in the current strike in a Columbus plant which is devoted entirely to production of war materials.

The Detroit strike was caused by a purely internal quarrel between labor groups and the Columbus reason was given as "protest against working conditions."

Both of the big national labor organizations are pledged not to countenance strikes for the duration of war, and the government has provided ample machinery for fair and peaceful settlement of labor disputes, but something is still lacking in the matter of enforcing these good intentions.

When workers' groups, for whatever reason, fight each other instead of doing their work and holding up their end of the national war program, it is little less than mutiny in the face of the enemy—and every incident of this kind evidences lack of realization that this is EVERYBODY'S WAR and that it is not being fought by—or for—any particular group.

When the war is over and service men return, there will be millions of them to express further disapproval of all acts that now hamper them in fighting against the Axis powers—and high among these are the strikes, the slow-downs and the so-called unauthorized "holidays" that lessen production of vital war materials.

Will Hitler Resort To Poison Gas?

ALREADY fighting with the desperation of a trapped rat, it is impossible to predict the lengths to which Hitler will go before accepting the final crushing defeat that awaits him.

In the opinion of Louis P. Lochner, former chief of the Associated Press in Berlin, Hitler will finally resort to use of poison gas as a war weapon, and a hint of this intention was seen in his recent threat to "stupefy the enemy."

It needs scarcely be said that if poison gas is introduced into the present war the initiative will be taken by the Axis, and this would not have surprised England as early as 1940, when full preparations were made to combat that form of attack.

Nor is it a military secret that the United Nations are now in full readiness to meet gas attacks in kind, if necessary, although it is still hoped that such frightfulness can be avoided.

The decision is up to Hitler.

Highway Brings Alaska Closer

AMERICANS like to think of this country as one that does things in a big way. If this attitude is sometimes overdone, it is justified by the news from Canada that the new 1,600-mile Alaskan highway will open officially on Sunday, November 15. The date was originally set for next spring; then, as American and Canadian engineers hustled, it moved up to December 1, and is now advanced still further. Indeed, though not formally open till the 15th, the road is already in use.

Its permanent value, apart from present military usefulness, will be in drawing Alaska closer to the rest of the country. With all its resources and scenic beauty, Alaska should have many times its present small white population, not yet running into six-figures. With other roads like the new highway, and the expected immigration of post-war pioneers, the day may not be far off when Alaska will have enough people to be admitted into the Union as a state.

Why Italians Are Fighting Poorly

MANY bitter misfortunes have been endured by Italy in this war, but probably hardest to bear has been the contempt of other nations for the appearance of weakness shown in battle.

But it should be remembered that Italy has never been wholeheartedly in the war on the Axis side. When Italian troops have seemed cowardly, they were usually honest and realistic. The Italian people were against Germany and wanted Britain to win. They recoiled from fighting against their friends. They knew it was Mussolini's war, not theirs. They have long wearied of the Duce who betrayed them into Hitler's hands, and would ditch him if he were not upheld by Nazi power which they cannot yet oppose.

They would join Britain and the United States, if they could, and would then fight like men. The Italians have always been fighters when their hearts were in the cause for which they fought. And a time may come, as it did in the last war, when they will be marching side by side with the free nations.

Extremes In Tire Caution

SURPRISING how many people, in the official check-up that allows five tires to every car, turn up with an extra "spare." And they are almost as disturbed about parting with that superfluous treasure as they would be if they were left running on bare rims. Apparently there's such a thing as being too thrifty, thereby getting in bad with people who have more faith in Providence.

On the other hand, the blithe way in which some motorists cheerfully run around on their rims shows that there is still left, here and there, a stout-hearted faith in the future which defies adversity and laughs at risks.

It is being remarked that drinkers of hoarded coffee are now being left with a bad taste in their mouth.

Another puzzle is how there can be so much banana oil when there are no bananas.

THE YANKS TAKE ALGIERS

Farm Hands Are Also Necessary

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—That a large number of military eligibles are breaking into the government civil service or into various supposedly indispensible industrial jobs, or that they're trying to do so anyway, in order to escape conscription as fighters, is a charge I frequently hear made, and decidedly don't believe in.

It may be true in an occasional case, but, as a general proposition, all indications are exactly contrariwise.

Plenty of capable young farm hands, in particular, want to join our armed forces, who can't get themselves accepted. Their work on the land, providing grub for our uniformed warriors, is more valuable than they'd be as actual scrappers.

Consequently our manpower commission appealed to our army and navy authorities to reject 'em when they try to enlist. The treasury's procurement division also was asked to instruct contractors not to employ skilled dairy, livestock and poultry workers without the manpower outfit's approval.

It's a peculiar situation in which an able-bodied, pugnacious lad, with a war available, and anxious to do his share in it, not only is passed up as a conscript, but is turned down as a volunteer, even.

Young farmers, in short, virtually have to be conscripted for farming.

A hand in some war producing factory is in a somewhat different classification.

Good Money Tempting.

He makes better money than a farm boy. He probably is no more afraid of being shot at than the country boy is. He's liable to be strongly tempted to stay home, however, on account of financial considerations. Indeed, it's a ground upon which the farm youth may be tempted from his livestock, hens and dairying into city employment. The manpower commission has to bear that in mind and freeze the chap onto the soil for the duration.

Economists are speculating considerably as to what'll happen to agriculture when the conflict's over.

They're curious also as to what'll happen to urban labor, but they don't believe that'll be so urgent an issue.

They reckon that urban industry will have a tremendously accumulated demand to meet. It'll have piled up indefinitely while the fight's raged. There doubtless will be a bothersome interval of readjustment while things are getting back to a peacetime basis, but it'll progress as rapidly as the mechanics of it permit. Agriculture, though, it's calculated, will find itself overdone and overmanned. Just how rapidly it'll be able to re-adapt itself to peacetime conditions is a matter of guesswork.

A man who has been intensively trained in a war machinery plant shouldn't have much difficulty in switching to peace's mechanical technique.

The supply of farm hands, though, may prove to be excessive, and it'll take those persons some little time to acquire mechanical education. Otherwise than agriculturally, they'll have been kept suppressed, and they'll be superabundant on the industrial labor market.

Just now there's a famine in farm hands.

A New "Normalcy."

Then everybody who's conscripted, at present, into it, will be a shark at it—and no good for anything else, until he's learned a new business.

We talk about the world getting back to normalcy after the war's over.

According to the economists, it'll get back to normalcy, but it'll be an entirely different sort of normalcy from anything we've known hitherto.

They don't profess to know exactly what it'll resemble.

They don't profess to know how folk will like it or not, either.

The next generation will adapt itself. To that epoch it'll seem natural, if not satisfactory.

Why Is Religion?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

"DEAR ELSIE," his letter says, "I enjoy reading the hoss sense articles you write. Even if you are a woman I get a bigger, practical kick out of your articles than I do out of the male highbrows who are supposed to the know the real answers. And you sure can hit hard, sister, which is what we need these days. But when you get straying off on religion, you leave me cold.

"How do you get that way, talking about God in the face of all the butchery and barbarism? Seems to me I once heard that God sees everything, knows even when a sparrow falls. Then why is He allowing this dirty mess to go on and all these innocent kids to be slaughtered? If He has the power you preachers think, why doesn't he use it?

"The funny thing is a lot of regular, ordinary people think the way you do. I asked these same questions of my barber the other night and I thought he was going to kick me out of the shop. Maybe if he'd collected my 75 cents he would have. No, I'm not kidding. I'm honestly bewildered, how, real, sensible people like you can pass out such hokum?"

A. P., Belmont, Calif.

SO YOU don't believe in religion, partner? Yet the very fury of your protest against cruelty and injustice is as fine a sermon against evil and as brave a defense of decency as I've ever heard from any pulpit. What do you think religion is, anyway? A lot of mumbo-jumbo which has nothing to do with practical facts? If so, snap out of it and get back on the beam.

Religion isn't a ritual for Sunday use only, like your best $1.00 shirt. Religion is every brave and just and beautiful impulse which passes through your life. Religion is the anger that surges through you if you see a little child abused or a pup kicked. Religion is the reverence you owe to a fine mother or a faithful father. Religion is the passionate desire you feel to save this country. Religion is your hate of hokum . . . your love of honesty . . . your hunger for a square deal.

AND THIS VERY WAR IS BASED ON RELIGION. IT IS AS SURELY A "HOLY WAR" AS WERE THE CRUSADES. IT RISES OUT OF ALL THAT IS BEST AND MOST SACRED IN OUR ALLIED SPIRITS.

Sure, we've made mistakes. Whopping ones. There's graft and stupidity. There are cowards and chiselers. But there are such flaws in every human enterprise. The essential truth is this: we aren't in this war for what we can get. We know, beforehand, that we may lose our pants. But we are out to preserve something better than pants.

We're out to preserve the greatest ideal of fair play that ever flamed in men's souls. Black or white, yellow or red, we're bound together by one fighting faith that lifts us above our private creeds or aims. And, that, my lad, whether you know it or not, IS RELIGION. That's the stuff that heaves us out of the muck of the primeval swamps and reeking jungles and has needled us on to this awful and glorious test.

As for your bleat because God doesn't interfere, let me ask you one. Would you wrap a year-old baby in a feather-bed for fear it might tumble when it was learning to walk? Would you keep a boy from reading lest he learn unpleasant facts, or blind his eyes or hamstring his legs in the name of love? Would you welcome such "protective supervision" yourself? Like heck, you would! Your own most cherished assets is your own FREE WILL. It gets you into many a mess. But you wouldn't give it up for any prize.

So you think that God should now step in and rob us of the right to make our own decisions and mop up their consequences? Piffle! This isn't merely a war. It's a period in our spiritual evolution and the result of our own cussedness. And the only people who can or should stop it are those who started it—WE, OURSELVES, THIS HUMAN RACE.

Not like religion? Brother, stop kidding yourself! It's the only thing you do like . . . believe in . . . and fight for! It's our one, big bet!

Invasion of 'Unoccupied' France Reveals Hitler's Serious Plight

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

HITLER was thrown on the defensive in Europe before the American campaign in North Africa was fully four days old.

His move into unoccupied France is one of desperation. Gone is the mockery of "collaboration" with the puppet Vichy government. Hitler has taken over, not for offensive purposes but to defend the vulnerable southern coast of France from invasion.

Dispatch of fighter planes and air-borne troops to Tunisia in North Africa is an equally desperate move. Unlike such previous Hitler operations as the invasion of Crete, it was not carefully planned in advance but done on the spur of the moment, born of necessity.

The Tunisian move seems designed primarily to delay the advancing Americans and help save the remnants of Marshal Erwin Rommel's shattered Afrika Korps in Libya. Hitler also must have some forlorn hope of saving Bizerte, the powerful French naval base in Tunisia, which in Allied hands would be a dire menace to Sicily and the coast of continental Italy.

American forces are reported to have crossed the Tunisian frontier, in line with President Roosevelt's announcement that they intended to do so, and the first direct land clash between German and American forces is imminent.

The co-incident Italian occupation of French Corsica apparently is designed to protect Italy's northwestern flank from invasion rather than a move toward Africa, since the Axis already is established in Italian Sardinia to the south.

HITLER'S problem is manifest. He no longer is in the position of being able to call the play and force the Allies on the defensive at the spot he chooses.

Hitler was forced to march into southern France and will have to improvise coastal defenses. He has little chance of matching the powerful fortifications of the northwestern French and Belgian coasts before the Allies are ready to attack, if they do select France for the next phase of the second front.

Hitler's problem does not end there, however. The Allies have freedom of choice and do not have to attack through France. Sicily and Italy lie within inviting range of Tunisia. Then there is the Balkan peninsula, through Greece and Jugoslavia.

If all possible points for an Allied invasion of southern Europe are to be protected, it means wide dispersal of the Axis forces and consequent lessening of the power to resist.

If Italy is to be defended, Hitler will be obliged to come to the aid of the Italians. That would require diversion of heavy forces to guard the Italian coast from the plains of Lombardy to the southern shore of Sicily. It could not be done without dangerously thinning others fronts, notably Russia.

ANOTHER problem Hitler has brought upon himself is the reaction of the French fighting forces, land and naval, to occupation of the whole of France.

There is some prospect that the French troops in all North Africa may swing to the Allied side, now that they have not even the shadowy Vichy government for leadership. The navy, too, might follow Darlan if he changes allegiance. The section of the French fleet which is at Toulon is a question mark.

Even if Hitler gets his hands on the ships, there is the business of manning them. The odds are greatly against their French crews fighting willingly for Hitler.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Clare Boothe Luce is coming to Congress and although I have no penchant for flippancy, I'm tempted to add: hey-hey.

Capitol Hill has been short on glamor long enough.

Some years ago when I was doing a stint on Broadway, I had the pleasure of interviewing Mrs. Luce (or just plain Clare Boothe, as she was known in those days, although she already had acquired and dropped the married name of Brokaw). She has beauty, charm, chic, a sharp wit and a gouging pen. Mrs. Luce would be a welcome addition to any Congress.

BUT I have a hunch that Congress is going to enjoy Mrs. Luce a lot more than she is going to enjoy Congress.

According to the Associated Press reports following her election, Mrs. Luce said: "This election proves how the American people want to fight the war. They want to fight a hard war, not a soft one, efficiently and without bungling."

In her campaign speeches, according to the same report, she frequently referred to her opponent as "one of the rubber stamps in Congress who are bungling the war."

That kind of campaign and election night talk has a familiar ring. It reminds me of some of the things ex-Rep. Bruce Barton said, including that one about how he wanted to come to Washington "to repeal a law a day." Mrs. Luce would do well to have a little chat with Mr. Barton before she comes down in January. He might explain how he didn't repeal even one law—and why.

Freshman congressmen (and women) have a way of getting lost in the shuffle on Capitol Hill. It hasn't anything to do with ability or even with what party one belongs to and not at all with how independently one votes. It's just the system, built up by 150 years of tradition.

It may be good; it may be bad; but there it is—and if Mrs. Luce beats it, she'll be the first in a long time.

HOW Mrs. Luce votes or whether she makes a great name as "the Congresswoman from Connecticut" in the next two years isn't nearly as important to me as something else. If she doesn't turn her Washington experience into a play, I'm going to write some constituents around Greenwich in 1944.

In "The Women," she took down the hair of the Park Avenue Renorunners. In "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," she took the socks off Hollywood and their search for a Scarlett O'Hara. In "Margin For Error," she wrote the bitterest diatribe against Nazi brutality that has come out of this war.

As "Congresswoman from Connecticut," Mrs. Luce will have the kind of ringside seat that probably no playwright worthy of the name ever had. If she'll match her other plays with one on the Washington "comedy of errors," she will deserve a life membership in that great American institution, the Congress of the United States.

Man About Manhattan

Easy Money Mecca

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — The Broadway gold rush, which became so pronounced around the first of October, continues without any sign of let-up. The natives stay home on week-end nights and turn the town over to visiting firemen from Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and farther. It's all your Sunday-best shoes are worth to get caught in a sidewalk jam.

The human traffic moves in a slow, sluggish, stream from building to curb. Sometimes there isn't room enough on the sidewalk and you take to the gutter. In front of the theaters are lines of people waiting for the privilege of spending their money. Standees wait in the doorways of the night spots, hoping to get a table.

People on Broadway are speaking of "Hollywood money," meaning that while you may have a good paying job, in a war plant or elsewhere, it goes almost as quickly as you make it because prices are so high.

AS I write, there are 28 stage offerings, all of them doing fair to turn-away business. The number is not excessively large, but I doubt if there have been so many inferior productions all at one time, hanging on despite bad reviews because people want to see plays (or have the money to spend for them, which is the same thing) and are willing to go to a lesser show when they can't get into a hit.

There are, also, probably half a dozen productions that in ordinary times (and when did we ever have ordinary times?) would have run their course and would have been closed. Hits, for instance, like "Angel Street" and "Life With Father" and "Claudia" and "Arsenic and Old Lace" and "Blithe Spirit" and Danny Kaye's "Let's Face It. Most of them have broken rules which usually lead to oblivion. The Kaye musical took a long vacation, "A. & O.L." has had many cast changes including the replacement of Boris Karloff with Erich von Stroheim, and "Claudia" once closed.

HOLLYWOOD, which is getting a bit hard up for actors, continues its raids on the Broadway stage. Eddie O'Shea, who does such a grand job as a life-loving soldier in "The Eve of St. Mark," has been screen tested and signed to a long-term contract by Hunt Stromberg. Gwen Anderson has had offers because of her work in "Janie," and now comes Flora Robson with a smash job in "The Damask Cheek" which is certain to improve her fortunes when she returns to the films.

Ohio Dogwood

Fair Dogwood, whose white blossoming
Brings joy to us each early spring—
You, too, must help to end this war
That flames so high from shore to shore.
The shuttles made from your hardwood
It seems can do the utmost good;
So may you help to weave sweet dreams
Of wild-life, woods, and clear clean streams
Into the textiles on the looms
As Mars with hate above us 'zooms.
Till some day, flower of purity,
You symbolize security,
And then above all living things
The Peace of God spreads shining wings.

A Farmer's Diary

Too Many Rabbits

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE RABBITS began to pare our plum and peach orchard. A week before hunting season, when I walked up to investigate those near the border of the woods, I was startled to find bark gnawed off the trunks so that the open wounds were glaring like white bones beneath the flesh.

I walked up close to a stricken tree and held its slender top between my hands. The next spring's buds seemed large and full of life. I pinched the outer bark with thumb and forefinger, and the green part that appeared was soft and moistly warm to touch. But the trunk, from the base to a height of 18 inches was a mass of fissured markings made by rabbits' teeth. A raveled cambium layer—the sap carrier of the tree—carried precariously the soft low pulse of life from the earth to the healthy crown above.

Looking closely at the teeth marks, I saw that both old and young of the rabbit tribe had been enjoying the juicy bark of my young orchard for several nights. Hunting season may help — but many of last year's hunters have gone to war; the fox family on the hill, nor the neighbors' hunting dogs are sufficient to check the numbers of the cottontails.

I bought some building paper at the village, and a ball of twine. We cut the building paper into strips, and with my wife and the boys to help, we tied protecting spirals about the bases of all the plums, to a height of 18 inches. The time of greatest danger from girdling rodents is during the first two or three winters after the orchard is planted. But even when the bark is firm and thick, sometimes mice will live about the tree in matted grass and gnaw a girdling band off below the surface. One year I bridge-grafted nearly a hundred young apple trees that had been so gnawed, and saved every one. Apples from those trees, later on, had an especially delicious flavor.

ASHLAND MARKS ARMISTICE DAY IN PARADE, RITE

Crowd Hears Pastor Who Was at Verdun on Nov. 11 24 Years Ago.

ASHLAND — Ashland paid tribute to the heroes of World war I at an Armistice day program at McDowell auditorium Tuesday morning. The program, planned by veterans' organizations, followed a West Main street parade to the auditorium in which veterans of World War I participated.

The Armistice day address was delivered by Dr. Paul P. Anspach, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, who celebrated the first Armistice day near Verdun, France, where he was stationed with the air service. His address stressed the necessity of a spiritual rejuvenation and the building up of spiritual morale in order that the war may be won and thus the peace, which this time must be lasting, may be won.

A two-minute silent period was observed at 11 a. m. in honor of those who lost their lives in World War I. Dr. H. E. Andrews, Pastor of the Presbyterian church and honorary chaplain of the American Legion post here, gave the invocation and benediction.

The annual Armistice day banquet of the Harry Higgins post of the American Legion and Auxiliary was held at the Methodist Educational building. Two hundred were present and heard an address by Martin Coffey of Middleton, Ohio commander of the American Legion.

NEW YORK—Success of Western Hemisphere defense moves, designed to protect the territory of the American republics from any threat of Axis attack from overseas, and to preserve the safety of the sealanes over which vital strategic cargoes of defense materials, foodstuffs and other supplies are carried, appears to be nearing assurance

Most of the burden of continental defense, on land, in the air and on the seas, logically falls upon the United States as the American nation with the most powerful industrial and economic resources, and as the greatest source of military manpower

Nevertheless, the other American countries that have entered the war against the Axis as allies of the United Nations are operating in the defense scheme in close harmony with the United States

As the first anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor approaches, a recapitulation of continental defense progress reveals:

1. Construction of the Caribbean bases, sites for which were acquired from Great Britain in exchange for 50 over-age United States destroyers in 1940, is being rushed to completion and some of the military, naval and air installations are almost finished The bases are manned by well-trained fighting personnel who not only have become inured to local climatic conditions, but have established friendly and co-operative relationships with the native populations

2. The defense of the Panama Canal Zone has been organized on such an efficient basis that Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, who made an inspection trip there recently, said: "I think the Canal has as perfect a form of defense as any place in the world . . . I feel a sense of comfort in the knowledge that the defenses are so well managed and effectively handled."

3 Vice Admiral John H Hoover, commanding the Caribbean sea frontier, said recently that the peak Axis submarine activity in the Caribbean already has passed and has fallen off, due to an efficient air and surface-craft patrol

4 An effective convoy system for shipping between the United States and the Canal Zone has been set up. Destroyers and fast "PC" boats protect the merchant vessels, and it is reported that all ships including tankers traverse the Caribbean safely today.

5. Brazil, an important link in the hemisphere defense system is furnishing increasingly able collaboration, and Secretary Knox recently praised the spirit of co-operation between Brazilian and United States forces guarding the long and vulnerable coastline and the offshore seaways of the great South American republic

On the political front, the Latin-American governments continue their co-operation to stamp out Axis espionage and propaganda activities

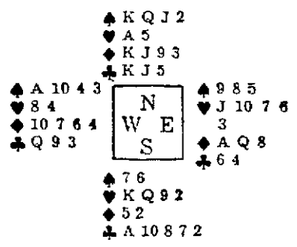
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHEN SAFETY IS SILLY

Cashing the winning trick, which gives you your contract, is usually plain ordinary common sense when trying for an extra or two would risk the contract. But haven't you seen situations in which you can go for the extra or extras without any danger at all? Of course you have. In those cases the taking of the immediate game trick is silly, if it means giving up hope of extras which might be sought at no hazard.



Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

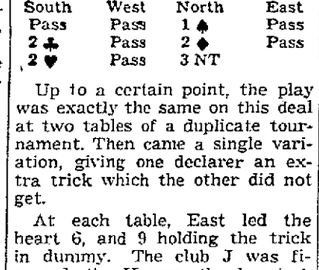
South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	3 NT

Up to a certain point, the play was exactly the same on this deal at two tables of a duplicate tournament. Then came a single variation, giving one declarer an extra trick which the other did not get.

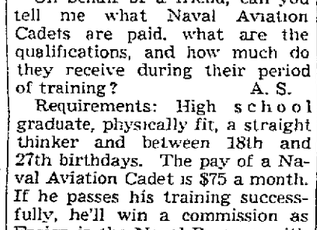
At each table, East led the heart 6, and 9 holding the trick in dummy. The club J was finessed, the K won, the heart A was cashed to unblock, and then three more clubs were won in the dummy. Both declarers scored the heart K. One of them then took the heart Q for his ninth trick, just to make sure, while the other did not.

Where the heart Q was scored, a spade was then led. West took his A, led a diamond toward the A-Q, which scored two more, and the fifth heart gave the defenders the last trick, so that only 3-No Trumps got made.

The other declarer, after taking the eighth trick with the heart K, then left the Q in dummy as a sentinel to police that suit, while he led a spade. Discarding on the clubs, he had retained two top spades and his best three diamonds. No matter what West returned after winning the spade A, game was certain and an extra almost so. West won that spade and returned the diamond 10. The J covered and the Q won. All that East could get was another diamond with the A, no matter how he had discarded. Actually, he took in the diamond A then and returned a heart to the Q, the spade K producing the last trick for an extra. It was a nine-table game. Five declarers made an extra at 3-No Trumps and the other four scored barely the contract.



Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

If West opened the bidding with 1-Diamond and then leads the Q after you get into 5-Clubs in the South, how would you play this hand?

Questions On Service Answered

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Officers' Training School.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

How does one apply for entrance into Officers' Training School? I am in Class 3-A. Before I am drafted I should like to enlist and get into the officers' school. Will I be required to take the basic training?

SCHOOL TEACHER.

The first thing you must do is enlist in the Army, where you will be required to take the basic training. You will then be given a chance to apply for training in the Officers' School.

* * *

Soldiers' Arrival Reported.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My son has gone overseas. I believe, as I haven't heard from him for some time. Will I be notified in any way when he reaches his destination, and what about his mail?

T. E.

When soldiers go overseas, they fill out and leave at ports of embarkation "arrival cards," reporting their arrival to relatives and friends.

These cards are mailed on receipt of a report from a commander of the troops aboard each transport. On these cards would be given information as to the soldier's overseas mail and cable address.

Enlisted Men Salute Officers.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Do all enlisted men salute officers in their own divisions, or in the whole Army and Navy?

TWO PUZZLED GIRLS.

The military salute is the courteous recognition between members of the armed forces of our country. The salute is a privilege enjoyed only by members of the military service in good standing; prisoners do not have the right to salute.

The salute is given by all enlisted men to officers of our Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard. It is also customary to salute officers of friendly foreign countries when they are in uniform.

* * *

Pay of Naval Aviation Cadets.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

On behalf of a friend, can you tell me what Naval Aviation Cadets are paid, what are the qualifications, and how much do they receive during their period of training? A. S.

Requirements: High school graduate, physically fit, a straight thinker and between 18th and 27th birthdays. The pay of a Naval Aviation Cadet is $75 a month. If he passes his training successfully, he'll win a commission as Ensign in the Naval Reserve, with increased pay and allowances.

* * *

Draft Board Records Confidential.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am anxious to get certain information about one of the registrants. If I know at what Draft Board he registered, will they be allowed to give me any data? R. L.

Records of the local draft boards are confidential. Such information should not be disclosed, without the registrant's permission, except to authorized persons.

* * *

Term of Enlistment In Navy.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

As my draft number is due to be called in a short time, I'd like to enlist in the Navy instead of waiting to be drafted. Would I have to serve many years, if I enlist, and what if the war is over before that time has expired? May I be allowed to resign? TWENTY-ONE.

If you enlist in the Regular Navy, the term of enlistment is six years; in the Naval Reserve it is two, three or four years. Naval Reservists may return to civilian life as soon as possible after the end of the war.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

"No I do not," my father said with such emphasis that I knew he already had planned what to do after Noel and Mary awakened from their drugged sleep.

"They must both be put on guard," he went on. "I now think it unlikely that Milner will try anything like this again. His value to the gang is greatly enhanced by his holding his position here, with its countless opportunities for espionage. Veritzen has put the fear of God into him, and I am sure he will not risk another overt act like this.

"Besides, Noel and Mary are entitled to know what happened to them, and I shall tell them myself as soon as they are awake. But I want you near, Margaret, so Mary will not be too startled at my being here. Yet there is no couch here, and you simply must have some rest. It may be hours before they awaken.

Plans Rest for Madge.

"I have it," he said, after a pause. "We no longer need Adams in that adjoining apartment. I will send him away now, and you go in there and lie down. Leave that camouflaged door open, so that when Mary wakens, Richard or I can call you. Does that suit you?"

"Perfectly," I told him, but was sure I would be roused by Mary's first stirring on awakening.

I was right, for when three hours later Mary stirred and exclaimed wonderingly: "Why! How did I come to fall asleep here?" I was at her side almost immediately, and put my hand soothingly on her arm as she raised up and looked at Noel, sprawled on the couch and still sleeping soundly.

"Seeing Things."

"For the love of Abraham and all the rest of the patriarchs!" she said, "am I seeing things? Is that Noel parked on a couch over there? Surely that couch wasn't in here last night."

"No, it wasn't," I said. "Now, dearest, just lie still and I will explain everything. Now I'll call room service and have coffee and croissants sent up. Then later you'll have breakfast."

"You talk as if we'd been on a bat and had a hangover," she said. "Why, the very last thing I remember, too," Noel said from the other bed, and I knew our voices had awakened him. "And now I'm in here on the same couch I swear was in the other room when we were drinking our coffee."

"May I come in?" my father asked from the doorway. Mary, patently bewildered, falteringly said. "Of course," and he went to her as Dicky, following him, stopped at Noel's side.

Hot Coffee First.

"I have a queer story to tell you about last night," he said, "but first you must have that hot coffee."

I was already at the telephone, giving the order and an injunction to hurry, then I turned back to Mary.

"I am not a diagnostician," I said smiling, "but I'm going to prescribe for you, nevertheless. Dicky, if you and Father and Noel will go into the next apartment while Mary stays here with me, my prescription can be carried out. I prescribe showers for both of you."

"I don't know of anything I want more," Mary said.

The men left us, and a few minutes later she emerged from my bathroom, rosy and refreshed. Noel came back a minute later with my father and Dicky. Coffee and croissants for all of us appeared in record-breaking time.

When we had "cleared our plates and seen the bottoms of our cups," as we counsel the children, Dicky and Noel set the trays out in the hall. Then, secure from interruption, my father drew his chair opposite them.

"You both were drugged last night," he began abruptly.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Nov. 13.

An eventful if not thrilling and astonishing day may be looked for under the predominant rule of the major planets. There may be sudden and radical openings calling for a swift-moving grasp, with tactics of such character as to assure the solidarity and endurance of such peculiar or unorthodox openings. Mistakes through excitement, over-enthusiasm or optimism, as well as any meausre of excess or rash indulgence might prove costly. The mentality and physical energies are under high impetus, and an element of shrewdness might prove strategic.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of lively, swift-moving and romantic events, with high adventures and dramatic or revolutionary changes of far-reaching effect on the future destiny. These openings should be managed with tact and sound judgment in order to perpetuate the good fortune and personal prestige, lest over-excitement, excessive indulgence or other emotional extremes prove costly. While the mind may be well stimulated and the initiative under excellent impetus for success, there may be danger of over-doing.

A child born on this day should have unusual talents and creative ability in unusual lines, perhaps science, invention, drama, fiction.

Invalid Parents Overjoyed When Their Child Walks

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Donald R. Frey and his wife recently celebrated their fourth wedding anniversary quietly at home watching their tiny son, David George, 18 months, toddle around.

The fact that their son can walk means an awful lot to Mr. and Mrs. Frey, as neither of them can walk without the aid of crutches. Mrs. Frey, 31, can not remember walking. She was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 11 months old and just beginning to toddle. Frey hasn't walked for 27 years. He was an active boy of 14 when the same dread disease attacked him.

Both parents are employed as watchmakers. They are very happy just to return home from work in the evening and watch their small son walk.

David George was a little late in learning to walk," said Mrs. Frey, "but it's just as well as he is rather chunky, and if he walked too soon it wouldn't be good for his legs. I know all parents are thrilled when their baby takes his first step but in our case, since David is the only one in the family who can walk, we get even greater pleasure than most parents out of watching him take his first halting steps."

LOANS FOR EMPLOYED WOMEN

We're addressing any employed woman in this community who has a problem which cash can solve.

Borrowing money is never wise if it means making difficulties worse — but there are certain circumstances in which a well-planned loan is the best way to get out of debt many times. Obligations which seem discouraging when added up in a lump can be paid off comfortably when broken down into monthly payments. And when ready cash isn't available for needed medical or dental work, clothing, for training which will increase one's earning power—then a loan is also common-sense.

Here at Personal Finance Company we specialize in serving women. If you need cash—$10 to $250 or more—we'll see that you get it without embarrassment or delay, without involving your friends or employer and without the need for putting up special security. We make loans on just your own signature — because we have found that business women, in this community, honor their obligations.

There is no difficulty in handling monthly payments on a loan here. For example:

$7.53 a Month Repays a $75 Loan in 12 Months

If you need cash we'll be glad to serve you. Special quick service during lunch hour. Come in or phone then if that's best for you. It will be a pleasure to serve you.

GERMANS USING PARACHUTES IN TORPEDO WAR

Missiles Drift Down Into Water, Circle Ships For Attempted 'Kill.'

LONDON— (UNS) —Latest German method of attacking Allied convoys is to drop parachutes with a torpedo attached into the sea. Directly it touches the water the torpedo commences to circle around and around its target in circles which get smaller and smaller until it makes a hit.

This type of torpedo was used recently when German planes attacked a large American and British convoy on its way to Murmansk carrying vital armaments for Russia.

Although this is the first time the Germans have used this type of missile, tests with parachute-launched torpedoes were made by the Italian navy and airforce off the Italian coast as long ago as 1932

They were not very successful as there were a great number of "misses" but the device was pronounced mechanically fit.

Owing to the terrific barrage set up by escorting warships the enemy have many times been prevented from getting in to launch their ordinary torpedoes from low level

They have thus been obliged to use the parachute torpedo which must be dropped at random in the middle of a convoy in the hope that the fast-circling torpedoes will hit one or other of the ships. It cannot be aimed at a specific target with any chance of scoring a hit.

It is presumably not difficult to set a torpedo's electrically controlled rudder so that after travelling a pre-determined distance it starts circling.

The missile attached to the parachute is an ordinary torpedo except that it is released from its parachute and its engine set in motion directly it touches the water.

Sir Samuel Hoare, when first lord of the British admiralty, told parliament that tests had been made in Britain with radio controlled torpedoes.

He added that the admiralty was aware of the possibilities and limitations of the device.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Gasoline rationing has made some of Hollywood's one-acre ranchers pretty blue and created a rush back to the town but don't look to see Harry Carey joining it.

"Maybe we'll move in town to a hotel for a few weeks when I'm making a picture," says Harry, "but leave this place—?"

Coons

The question is its own answer. Ask an eagle to live on the ocean's floor, ask a whale to live on the desert, even ask Lupe Velez to keep quiet, but don't ask Harry Carey to give up that 1,500-acre ranch, even if it's 40 miles from Hollywood. That place out beyond Saugus, with its sandy sweep of rolling range and hills, is part of the heart of Carey, tied up with so much of his life and times that you could say the ranch is Carey, and Carey is the ranch—and movies are a sideline.

"We've been through fire, flood, and famine here," say Harry, and his keen eyes twinkle reminiscently. It's true, literally.

They've been through much besides. It was in 1915 that Carey and Olive Golden, his leading lady and bride, fell in love with that country grown familiar to them through many movie locations. They homesteaded the original 160 acres and built from there.

In 1921 the first of their two children was born there, Steven, the boy known as "Dobie" today. Mrs. Carey wanted the child born on the place. In those days they had no electricity on the ranch, and the doctor was afraid to operate under lamp light — afraid the anesthetic might explode. So Harry ripped out the side of his wife's room, drove his car up an improvised incline of boards and turned on his headlights. It was a dramatic entrance for a new actor in the family. Fire later destroyed the old house.

A few years later came the flood. Collapse of a mighty dam above the Carey place sent a terrific mountain of water and rocks through the heart of the ranch, sparing the home but taking the lives of many of his Indian workers. Harry and Olive had to start from scratch again—in famine.

"Those," he says, "were our short-grass years."

Not only was his ranch devastated but his picture career, already a long succession of ups and downs, was in a slump. Harry hit the road again, building a new career in vaudeville and rodeo, building the ranch back with the proceeds. He got a movie finally—"Trader Horn" — but the short-grass years stretched out because he didn't make another film for three years.

They're behind him now, of course. His come-back has been progressive since "Shepherd of the Hills," and his new one, "Air Force," is going to leave him higher. He's picking and choosing his pictures now, and the ranch is booming.

ELEPHANT'S ON LOOSE WEARING A DOOR FRAME

Pachyderm Chases Woman Into Drug Store, Now Whole County Chases Beast.

WABASH, Ind.—(INS)—The citizenry of Wabash county, or a considerable part of it, following at a cautious distance behind a posse made up of state police, deputy sheriffs and other officers, engaged in a mass safari today in quest of a female elephant that escaped its keepers.

The fugitive pachyderm, an amiable animal in most circumstances, its trainers insisted, wrought much havoc in town, and injured a woman a little and scared her a lot, before it disappeared north of the city wearing a door frame as a lavalier.

The door frame was acquired when the elephant cavorted into a drug store close behind Mrs. Chauncey Kessler who had dashed inside for safety.

She took refuge behind a showcase, but there was a sound of rending wood and shattering glass as the elephant pushed the showcase over on top of her. Mrs. Kessler was treated for cuts and bruises at a hospital and taken home where it was said she was suffering principally from shock.

This accomplished, the elephant ambled out of the back door, the door frame draped over her ample neck.

Earlier in her adventure, the elephant barged into the ground floor basement of a home and did a fair demolition job, tearing out water and furnace pipes and scattering wreckage over the floor.

The whole thing started when trainers for the Harold Jacobs circus were leading three elephants from a truck to the high school gymnasium for a performance last night.

Something happened to alarm the pachyderms. The trainers said it was excited dogs barking defiantly at the big beasts. All three elephants bolted, but two of them quickly were recaptured.

The fugitive danced down the street into the business section, terrified pedestrians scattering ahead of her in every direction. On completing the wreckage in the downtown section, the elephant headed for the country where the pursuing posse soon was outdistanced.

Knox Declares Production of War Materials Can Be Increased.

M'KEESPORT, Pa.—(AP)—Secretary of Navy Knox declared last night that a second front now is "wide open" and called for vastly increased production of war materials for the Allied armies fighting all over the world.

Production officials, Knox said, have told him a 20 to 25 per cent increase could be achieved without increasing the work week or reducing profits.

LOSES APPEAL

Dismissed Genoa School Principal Turned Down by Court.

CANTON — (U.P.) — Ralph R. Trachsel, dismissed principal of Genoa high school whose discharge led to a student strike, today lost his fight for reinstatement by the Perry township board of education.

Common Pleas Judge Joseph L. Floyd ruled that the board of education had discretionary power to refuse his reinstatement. He was fired for charges of an alleged affair with a woman teacher.

TWO FROM CITY SLATED TO BE RE-ELETCED BY STATE C. OF C.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Federal legislation should be enacted to eliminate strikes for the duration of the war, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce recommended today at the first business session of its two-day "war conference."

Two Mansfielders are scheduled for re-election as directors of the Ohio State Chamber of Commerce at the organization's 49th annual convention, which opens in Columbus today.

In addition to election of directors, the Chamber will seek ways and means of spurring the state's war effort, dispatches from Columbus said.

The Mansfielders who are scheduled for re-election for three-year terms are John W. Graham, general manager of The News-Journal and C. L. Van Derau, manager of manufacturing at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company plant here.

A. Graves Williams of Portsmouth, Chamber president, said "many critical and complex problems concerning production and manpower" would be considered by the convention.

"Their solution is imperative," Williams asserted, "if plants are to be kept working at top speed and if production is to be stepped up steadily in the war effort."

The convention votes today on a resolution calling for enactment of federal anti-strike legislation which would require:

Compulsory mediation; a vote under government supervision before strikes could be called; prohibition of boycotts; limiting of picketing; severe penalties for violations of strike provisions, and authorization for courts to issue injunctions against boycotts and mass picketing.

Another resolution would: Oppose any increase in old age pensions, the establishment of federal health and disability insurance or the extension of the social security program; criticize the "trend towards centralization of government;" urge the state to pursue an "anti-inflationary policy in the expenditure of public funds through reduction of the budget;" and favor consolidation of public aid program under a single administrative agency.

Other directors scheduled for re-election include B. B. Williams of Mt. Vernon; Frank E. Funderburg of Springfield, and former Gov. George White of Marietta.

Surviving are sons, George and Charles, Coshocton; Clarence, Glenmont; Ray, Tarance, Cleve and Harry of Loudonville, and daughters, Mrs. Ida Scoles of Mt. Vernon and Mrs. Etta Barnes, Loudonville.

Funeral services will be conducted at Sand Ridge at 2 p. m. Saturday, Rev. George Schrack of Perrysville officiating. Burial will be in Sand Ridge cemetery.

Laff-a-Day

"Remember now. Give Dawson the ball only when the wind is with him!"

A youth who walked with a limp went into a Mansfield restaurant yesterday and sat at the counter for several minutes as if pondering something, then asked for a glass of water. "That's good water," he said. "May I have another?" After finishing the second glass, he told the proprietor: "I have just completed my first day in a factory—my first job in more than a year."

Nancy Bushnell and Judy Kelly yesterday evening were the busiest hostesses in the city—and had more boy friends per capita than anyone else. Serving as hostesses at USO headquarters, the girls were experiencing an unusually quiet evening, due to the Armistice parade and all. Suddenly the doors swung open. In marched 30 Army and Navy aviation cadets from municipal airport. With radio and phonograph dance music being furnished, the girls rationing their partner patronage to all. Some of the boys took time out to write letters, all took cookies till the jars were empty and near taps time all took for home, happily convinced the local USO unit does function in emergency.

Personal note to the youth of high school age who refused to remove his hat when the colors passed him in last night's Armistice parade: When the elderly gentleman called your attention to the fact that you were not removing your hat, your excuse sounded mighty flimsy. You said you weren't supposed to remove your hat if the flag was more than six feet away from you. No one in the crowd along the parade route could get within six feet of the flag. There were hundreds of men—and boys—15, 20, 25 and 50 feet away from the flag who removed their hats in respect to Old Glory. Incidentally, you weren't the only one—there were dozens of men who left on their hats and didn't even bother to make an excuse.

MEETING SET

Committee To Discuss Child Nursery Monday.

Committee members in charge of setting up nursing care facilities for small children of mothers engaged in war industry employment will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce rooms to discuss a suitable location for the nursery set-up under civilian defense regulations, Russell Gimbel, chairman, said today.

Gimbel was recently named to lead the committee by Civilian Defense Co-ordinator G. E. Kalbfleisch. Others assisting him are heads of various service and employment agencies.

After the first nursery is set up, additional ones will be provided as the need arises, Gimbel said. All mothers employed in defense work or replacing men now engaged in war production will be eligible to leave their young children at the nursery.

A staff including a trained teacher, dietician and cooks will be employed.

SAYS FOE TO 'TAKE A LOT OF LICKING'

Asserts Business To Be Given Headaches By Concentrating of American Industry.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Cautioning against over-optimism over war developments, Donald M. Nelson warns that "what is happening in Africa is only a beginning, not an end . . . the German military organization is immensely powerful; it has lost heavily in Russia, but it will still take a lot of licking."

"And on the other side of the world," the war production board chief told the Association of National Advertisers last night, "we have only made the barest beginning in the reconquest of the immense and wealthy territories seized by Japan."

He said "there is no present reason to suppose that this is going to be a short war," but he asserted that the American economy was sufficiently vital and flexible to crush the enemy without crumbling in the process.

Nelson declared that advertising was an "essential part of our communications system," adding:

"We dare not destroy or cripple that communications system in wartime, and we have no remotest desire to do so."

He declared that some of the things that must be done to win the war would give businessmen "some severe headaches," adding that one of them came in connection with concentration of industry.

Revealing that the WPB was "preparing" a complete program for the production of civilian goods in America during the coming year," he declared that industry would be "consulted in the formation of this program . . . every effort will be made to get a well-rounded opinion before we act."

Captain Oliver Lyttelton, British minister of production, told the association that the United Nations invasion of Africa was "the greatest amphibious operation in history," and said that the number of ships in convoy was well over 500, in addition to more than 350 vessels of war.

Clevelanders Learn Price Of Free Land

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Clevelanders were aware today that Americans must pay a price in tears and bloodshed for all the freedoms that they possess after hearing Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist, elaborate before an audience of 5,000, just a few of the things we are fighting for.

"How much are we willing to pay for the four or five million dead Russians who turned back the Germans at Moscow and held them a year later at Stalingrad?"

"Shall I put America up at auction? Do you want to make a bid for it? Miss Thompson asked her audience at the Americans for Victory rally. "How much am I bid for our freedom of worship? Five per cent? For our law courts? Ten per cent? What do you want to pay for the public schools?"

Answering her own questions, Miss Thompson said the price would be great in blood and tears. She pointed out that we have wrongly assumed that our nation need not pay a high price to stop aggression.

COYOTE PACK INVADES OHIO

Animals Plague Farmers in Three Southern Counties.

COLUMBUS —(AP) —A coyote pack that plagued farmers in three counties has been destroyed, but officials still would like to know how the animals got to Ohio.

L. C. Bailey of the state conservation and natural resources division said yesterday that Game Protector Irvin Patrick of Circleville and John Wilson of Waterville had eliminated the pack which killed chickens, turkeys, ducks and sheep in the "Oak Openings" area of Lucas, Henry and Wood counties.

Patrick trapped four of the coyotes—a female and three pups —and Wilson shot a fifth.

Mansfield bowlers are patriotic people.

They've been responding this week to the Victory Legion drive being staged all over the country by bowling organizations, and responding in a way that indicates the Mansfield share of the event will be an even greater success than optimistic backers had even hoped for.

Bowling league participation in the Victory Legion consists of the donation of 25 cents this week by each league bowler to the United Service Organizations.

Club leaguers started the ball rolling Monday night with a 100 per cent contribution. The women's matinee league had a 100 per cent contribution Tuesday.

There may have been other 100 per cent leagues that haven't been called to my attention. But the leagues which didn't hit 100 per cent, didn't fall far short of that mark.

* * *

With thousands of bowlers all over the country giving their two bits this week, the final contribution to the USO will run into important money, and will go a long way toward brightening the life of the nation's defenders in camps and on far-flung battle fields.

* * *

It is this idea of helping a little to help a lot that has spurred the enthusiasm of the bowlers of Mansfield and the nation in this Victory Legion drive. League secretaries have experienced no difficulty here in collecting the 25 cents from the keglers.

Now comes the climax of the USO campaign this week—a head pin tournament in both men and women's divisions, to be conducted Saturday and Sunday at Colony alleys.

Officers of the hastily formed Victory Legion in Mansfield headed by Attorney John F. Kramer, veteran Mansfield kegler, hope the tournament will prove as big a success as the league participation in the drive.

Entry fee for the tournament will be $1.25 for two lines of bowling. Bowlers may enter as often as they please. Of the entry fee, 50 cents will go directly to the USO, 25 cents for prize money, and 50 cents for bowling fee, 20 per cent of which will be turned over to the USO by the Colony alleys.

The fee and the distribution of the money are set by the national Victory Legion organization, and not by the Colony alleys or the local Legion officers.

Incidentally, the money raised by Mansfield bowlers this week for the USO will be sent directly to the national headquarters of USO. Victory Legion officers have announced. None of it will go to the local USO chapter which is supported by the Community War Chest.

Money to be collected later for the Red Cross through the Victory Legion campaign will be paid to the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross.

Passers Work Out For Bucks

Ohio State Tapers Off For Illinois Battle.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—With passing still the practice theme, Ohio State tapers off a bit today in its build-up for Saturday's football game with Illinois in Cleveland.

The passers, George Slusser, Paul Sarringhaus and Les Horvath, were slated for plenty of pitching as the Bucks sought to polish up offensive tactics for the contest which will affect the Western conference title hopes of both teams.

Riding in first place with Illinois and Iowa, Ohio's gridders got no Armistice day vacation from their football chores. Yesterday they were put through their second rigorous day of action working on defense against Illinois plays and developing their own aerial offense.

Coach Paul Brown stressed passing for two reasons: he wants to give the Bucks a more varied attack and he fears Illinois may use a seven-man line to stop Ohio's powerful ground game. A strong passing attack would force Illinois to shift from the seven-man line to a six-two-two-one or a five-two-three-one defense.

"Too many of our touchdowns have come the hard way—by pounding our heads off," said Brown. "If our air game can be kept sharp we'll go farther—faster."

The Buck players, zipping through the stiff workouts this week, saw in the Illinois contest a chance to redeem themselves for the Wisconsin set-back—the only blot on the Ohio record this season.

Backfieldmen also were giving their ball-handling a lot of attention. Fumbles helped lose the Wisconsin game and Illinois is a notorious ball-stealing outfit.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mention boxing "style" to an ordinary fight fan and he may have a vague idea what you're talking about . . . Bring it up around the fight mob and you'll find they take it very seriously although explanations usually stop at saying that one fighter is "orthodox" and another isn't. . . . For instance, after Max Schmeling flattened Joe Louis in their first encounter, Joe explained: "I couldn't fight him; he fought me sideways." . . . Later Al Weill figured it out that Arturo Godoy could get along against Louis by ducking down almost to the floor—and it worked.

ALL IN FUN.

Employes at a Pittsburgh hotel are telling one about a blown-in-the-bottle grid fan who turned up last Saturday, waving an Ohio State banner and asking the way to the Pitt stadium. . . . Informed that the Pitt-Ohio State tussle was to take place in Columbus, he merely grinned and said, "Oh well, let's have a good time anyhow." . . . Maybe he had the right idea at that, considering how much fun there is in 59-19.

WHIRLAWAY ADDS TO BANK ACCOUNT

BALTIMORE, Md.—(UP)—Calumet farm's Whirlaway, the turf's leading money winner, had a total bank account of $548,461 today after copping the $8,621 first money in the 30th Governor Bowie handicap at Pimlico.

NOVA BOOKED FOR MAURIELLO BOUT

NEW YORK—(UP)—Lou Nova, California heavyweight and Tami Mauriello of New York were signed today for a 10-round bout at Madison Square garden Dec. 11.

Mauriello suffered a broken nose in a recent victory over Lee Savold of Patterson, N. J., and withdrew a scheduled fight with Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland Nov. 27. Savold was substituted to face Bivins.

Les Horvath Took Chance

Turned Down Father's Advice on Education.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—It's against all the teachings, but Les Horvath got what he wanted by refusing to take parental advice.

What he wanted was a berth on the Ohio State football team, and when he landed as a regular at right halfback his father probably admitted he had been wrong.

If Les had listened to his male parent, Charles Horvath of suburban Parma, he would have been playing with Ohio Northern instead of the Buckeyes.

Because of Les' size—he weighed only 152 when he entered Ohio State—the father wanted him to enroll in a small college where "he would be reasonably certain of playing on the first team."

"I tried to interest him in Ohio Northern—that's my old school," the father said. "Les wouldn't listen to me and I finally gave up and told him to head for Columbus and be prepared to sit on the bench every Saturday."

But the son remembered another under-sized Buckeye gridder, Tippy Dye, and embarked on a college football career in the big-time. His parents aren't sorry that he refused his father's advice. They've missed only one Ohio State home game in the three years Les has been playing.

Has Rival On Defense

Miami, Fla., Pushes Tulsa For Top Ranking.

By ARNOLD DERTLITZKI

CHICAGO—(AP)—Tulsa's unbeaten and untied Hurricanes now have a rival for honors as the nation's top defensive team. It's little Miami of Florida.

The American football statistical bureau said today that Miami at first was not regarded as a major team, but that because of its record and opposition, it no longer could be ignored in the national tabulations.

OLD OIL FIELDS USED TO STORE GAS RESERVES

They're Being Utilized as Reservoirs to Free Vital Materials For War.

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES—Vast subterranean cavities created by withdrawal of petroleum now are being converted into huge storage "tanks" to free vital materials for fighting the war on more important fronts.

The scheme to use mother earth for storing unused war energies has been developed in Southern California but experts believe it is applicable elsewhere.

The shortage of steel and other metals needed in the war program has made it impossible to construct conventional tanks for gas storage. In view of this, the Defense Plant Corporation, under the war powers act, recently took over a worn-out oil field near Los Angeles and is converting it into an underground natural gas reservoir, to be tapped when present supplies are over-taxed during the winter months.

The many new war industries and the consequent increased population have overloaded the community's normal gas supply to such an extent that a daily shortage of 16,000,000 cubic feet was anticipated this winter.

However, the plan which has been put into operation will pump 20,000,000 cubic feet daily into the earth between the present and the anticipated peak load in January. Officials point out that this will be more than ample to assure a steady flow of gas to private consumers and industry alike until next spring.

No critical materials are being used for the storage project, according to engineers, since pipe and compressors, in use when the field was producing, are already on hand.

No doubt exists regarding the practicability of the venture, for a successful precedent has been set at the Paloma field, 100 miles north of Los Angeles. There, natural gas from producing wells is returned 10,000 feet below the surface under 6,000 pounds pressure and has been a major factor in stabilizing winter consumption in that locality.

WAR EFFORT CUTS JOBLESS CLAIMS IN OHIO TO NEW LOWS

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS— Industrial Ohio's war effort has resulted in record lows in claims and benefits of the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation.

October benefits dropped below one-half million dollars—$472,906—for the first time in any month since the bureau was established four years ago. The previous low was $613,308 for October, 1941.

October's new claims dropped to 6,598, against September's 6,664—another all-time low.

Still another record figure was hung up when the average number of weekly benefit recipients fell last month to 10,569, compared to 12,981 in October, 1941.

BUS Administrator Herschel C. Atkinson said new claims filed in October were 16,000 less than the average month in the bureau's history. The amount of benefit payments in October was $1,140,000 under the BUC's average month and the weekly number of persons receiving benefits fell 28,000 under the average.

Coincidentally, Atkinson observed that the taxable wages of Ohio employers for the first half of 1942, totaling $1,725,000,000, were 28 per cent above taxable wages for the last half of 1941.

"This increase was due largely to higher rates of pay, fuller employment and overtime paid covered workers," said Atkinson. "This helps create funds to be available for benefits when employment slumps."

The BUC said contributions received, or receivable for, the first half of 1942 amounted to $20,869,995 and predicted approximately the same figure for the final six months.

Atkinson said Ohio's fund for benefits now exceeds $260,000,000.
